27 Persons Dead, 71 Hurt As Result of 4 Fires, Explosion

Ardent Politicians Now Ready For Primary and Election Fights in U. S.

Senator Robinson May Be Selected To Do "Keynote" Speaking at Philadelphia for New Dealers in June.

BORAH ACTIVE

Borah Forces Gird Selves in Oregon, Wisconsin and Nebraska; Knox Silent on Plans.

Washington, Feb. 13 (AP)—In the afterglow of political fires kindled on Lincoln Day by both major parties, the New Dealers and their foes warmed up today for impending primary and election struggles.

While Republicans, led by former President Hoover, assailed the administration, the New Deal leadership moved quietly about the business of crystalizing plans for the June convention at Philadelphia. It was said that Senator Robinson (D-Ark.) might be selected as the "keynote" speaker.

With an early preview of G. O. P. sentiment promised for April showing with both Colonel Frank Knox and Senator Borah entered in the Illinois primary, there was evidence of further broadening of activity on the part of the veteran Idaho senator.

His forces were girding for action in Oregon, Wisconsin and Nebraska. They previously had made definite plans to enter Ohio.

Senator Dickinson (R.-Ia.) at Greensboro, N. C., acknowledged that he aspired to the nomination, but told reporters he would not seek pledged delegates in the state primaries. Delegate contests often beget enemies, he reminded, and he wants only friends in the Cleveland convention.

Knox, the Chicago publisher who has been making almost daily anti-New Deal speeches, declined yesterday to say in what states besides his own he would seek presidential convention delegates.

Lincoln Day for the most part was given over to Republican speeches in honor of the 127th birthday of the Civil War President, in which there was a general assault on the administration and frequent references to the constitution.

Such words as "toryism," "despotism," and "dictatorships," were used in reference to the New Deal.

In Indianapolis, however, Secretary Wallace defended the administration. He, too, referred to the constitution declaring that "most of us" thought the Agriculture Adjustment Act valid, and "some of us, including three Justices of the Supreme Court, think so still."

Hoover Strikes Blow

Hoover, addresing a banquet audience at Portland, Ore., struck one of his smartest anti-administration notes.

"The outstanding state of the Union at this hour," he declared, "is a state of confusion—confusion in thought, confusion in government, confusion in economic life and confusion in ideals."

The former President accused the administration of having "the worst unbalanced" budget in history, asserting that "a balanced budget and a stable currency would put more men to work than the whole WPA."

"A fountain of fear" was his description of the New Deal.

Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) struck a similar note in New York. He declared "we are now ready for restoratives, rather than narcotics."

Vandenberg urged "Jeffersonian" cooperation with the G. O. P. "in the battle line" and "in the council chamber after next November's victory is won."

Senator Norris (R.-Neb.) assailed the court's decision scrapping AAA, saying "it cannot stand if our country is to live and prosper." He urged Congress to curb the court's power.

Colonel Knox, speaking in Boston for the first time since he officially entered the race for the nomination, referred newspapermen to his many speeches as an indication of what his platform will be.

"To me," he said, "the New Deal is essentially a Tory movement and Mr. Roosevelt, seeking encroachment upon the liberties of the people behind a smoke screen of false liberalism is the arch-Tory of them all."

Aviator's Body Found.

San Bernardino, Calif., Feb. 13 (AP)—Soldiers and forestry prepared today to bring the body of Lieut. John T. Helms out of the San Bernardino National Forest where the flier apparently fell over a cliff to his death a mile from where his plane had crashed. Coroner R. E. Williams said the body, found yesterday, would be released to army authorities at March field.

Senate Passes 5 Crime Acts As Assembly Prepares to Ask Lehman to Prove or Apologize

Among Measures Was One of Governor's Major Recommendations Proposing Establishment of Crime Prevention Bureau Within Executive Department—General Thompson, Orleans Assemblyman, Attacks Governor, Asks, As Does Ives, Executive Apology—Cites Auburn Prison Riot Service in 1929.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP).—The Democratic-controlled Senate of the New York Legislature jammed through five more anti-crime measures today as the Republican Assembly majority prepared to formally demand that Governor Herbert H. Lehman prove his charge that "powerful groups" are jeopardizing his crime program.

Included among the measures passed was one of the governor's major recommendations, proposing establishment of a crime prevention bureau within the executive department.

This bureau, supervised by a director appointed by and holding office during the term of the governor at a salary of $10,000 annually, would be to stimulate state departments in developing their facilities and methods to control the factors entering into delinquency and crime; visit, study and evaluate conditions in communities throughout the state, and prepare legislation bearing upon problems incident to crime prevention.

All the proposals were approved unanimously and without debate, less than an hour after a new burst of resentment at the governor's charge came from a Republican assemblyman, John S. Thompson, Orleans Republican and brigadier general.

Other Proposals

The other proposals would:

Authorize a court or judge, when a sentence of not more than 60 days' imprisonment is imposed, to suspend execution of judgment on certain specified days or parts of days.

Strengthen the penal law regarding custody of the defendant until a judgment is complied with. (Accomplished in two measures).

Impose surety bond liens on real estate given as security in recognizance of bail.

The last measure had already been passed by the Assembly and now goes to the governor, increasing to five the number of proposals awaiting his action.

Assemblyman John S. Thompson, Orleans Republican and brigadier-general, said the governor's charge "casts reflections on me not only as a citizen and as a legislator, but as an officer in the National Guard as well."

"I do not wish to engage in personalities with the governor, but I positively will not tolerate any reflection cast upon my character, my integrity or my devotion to the ideals of this state, this country or orderly government."

"Owes Apology"

He agreed with Assembly Speaker Ives that "the governor owes to the Assembly a prompt retraction or apology for his statement."

General Thompson, for 35 years a member of the National Guard and the regular army, said that "when the governor declares that members of the legislature are dominated by 'powerful groups' who have 'influenced' their votes against the more objectionable anti-crime bills, he is attacking all of us who, like himself, are duly elected servants of the people."

The general recalled that in December, 1929, Lehman, then acting governor, ordered him to command the 108th Infantry in suppressing rioting inmates of Auburn prison.

Meanwhile, aroused to fighting pitch, the Republican majority in the Assembly is drafting a resolution for submission on Monday night calling upon the governor to "name names and explain fully his charges."

The governor, in the form of a warning to the public, bluntly said yesterday that "it is perfectly evident that powerful groups in this state have determined to kill as much of the anti-crime program as they dare."

Resolution Considered

The Republicans also are seriously considering a resolution for a searching investigation of the law enforcing agencies of the state, including those directly under the governor himself.

Republican Speaker Irving M. Ives emphasized that the matter was not yet ended.

"Certainly we are not going to drop such a serious matter," he said.

As a result, what originally was announced as a non-political consideration of a far-reaching program may turn out to be a bitter, partisan battle.

There are indications, too, that there is no little resentment among many Democrats at the governor's action. Observers point to the fact that Assemblyman Saul Streit, of New York, alone among the Democrats, rose to defend the chief executive.

Democratic Senate Leader John J. Dunnigan is determined to expedite consideration of the remainder of the governor's program. Dunnigan called for "all hands on deck" today for [illegible]

Hauptmann Asks to See Samuel Leibowitz

SAMUEL LEIBOWITZ.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 13 (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann asked permission today to see Samuel S. Leibowitz, New York criminal lawyer, who said he would join the defense "if Hauptmann would tell the truth."

Hauptmann summoned Col. Mark O. Kimberling, principal keeper at state prison, to the death house and made the request of him. Kimberling directed it be in writing, and waited while Hauptmann wrote a note.

Kimberling said Hauptmann, who was convicted a year ago today of the Lindbergh baby kidnaping-murder, did not tell him why he wished to see Leibowitz. Hauptmann merely told him, Kimberling said, that he discussed with his wife, Anna, on Tuesday of the advisability of engaging a new attorney.

Asked if Leibowitz would not technically be a member of the defense staff if he entered the death house, Kimberling expresed belief he would. The law permits only relatives of a condemned man, his lawyers and a spiritual adviser to visit him. Kimberling said he would ask C. Lloyd Fisher, chief of the defense staff, if he objected to the visit.

Leibowitz said in New York he would visit Hauptmann, but was uncertain whether he would do so today.

Leaves for Trenton.

New York, Feb. 13 (AP).—Samuel S. Leibowitz, noted criminal lawyer, left for Trenton today in response to a request from Bruno Richard Hauptmann for a conference on new plans to save him from the electric chair.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann and Lieut. Robert Hicks, a defense investigator, accompanied the attorney.

Leibowitz and Mrs. Hauptmann hoped to interview the prisoner in his death house cell during the afternoon, returning to New York tonight.

Holding Hearing to Fix Prevailing Wage For New P. O. Addition

Thomas P. Behney of New York city, referee of the U. S. Labor Department, held an investigation and hearing at the court house today under the provisions of the Davis-Bacon act in order to fix a prevailing wage scale to be paid the men who will be employed on the construction of the new addition to the Central Post Office on Broadway.

Plans for the new addition have been received and approved. The addition will be two stories in height and will be erected in the rear of the present building. In order to make room for the new addition the house in the rear of the post office on Prince street, and the store on Broadway in the rear of the post office, will be condemned and taken over by the government to make room for the addition.

The first floor of the new addition will be used for post office purposes while the second floor will be turned into office space to house government agencies in Kingston.

Manchoukuo Has Grave View of Latest Border Clash in Outer Mongolia

Enemy Allegedly Used Bombing Planes to Disperse Japanese Column, But No Casualties Were Reported Today.

Japan Sees Need of Reinforcing Troops Within Manchoukuo; Soviet Strength Reported.

(Copyright 1936, by Associated Press)

Tokyo, Feb. 13. The Manchoukuoan government took a most grave view of the latest border clash with Soviet-influenced outer Mongolia, a Domei (Japanese) news agency said today, especially since the enemy allegedly used bombing planes.

The dispatch from Hsinking, capital of the Japanese-advised state of Manchoukuo, quoting a spokesman for the Manchoukuoan foreign office, said the encounter yesterday at Olahodka was the most serious thus far of the last year's frontier incidents.

Military reports from the border confirmed reports that planes attempted to bomb the Japanese-Manchoukuoan column involved, but failed to inflict casualties, the dispatch said.

Accounts differed as to whether two or three planes took part in the engagement, and as to whether they were Russian planes or outer Mongolian.

War Minister Yoshiyuki Kawashima proclaimed Japanese concern today over a vast alleged concentration of Soviet military power in Far Eastern Siberia, close to the frontiers of Manchoukuo.

General Kawashima disavowed any intention by the Japanese army to take a military initiative against Russia, but said:

"If events move in such a way as to compel us to change this attitude, we must do what we can to cope with the situation."

In view of the situation in Manchoukuo and North China, the war minister told the Associated Press, "some reinforcement of Japanese forces seems necessary."

Soviet Russia has concentrated in Eastern Siberia troops equal to the entire Japanese army on a peace-time basis, he charged, while on the Manchoukuo side of the border, the Japanese army has made few reinforcements.

Fresh details of the latest incident said the Japanese lost one officer and seven men killed, and one officer and three men wounded.

A Domei (Japanese) news agency dispatch from Hsinking, capital of Manchoukuo, said the Japanese general headquarters there announced that the Mongols apparently suffered numerous casualties.

Revenue Increase

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—Renewed business activities in New York state increased revenue of the department of state last year for the first time since the high peak of 1929, Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn reported to the legislature today. Receipts from all sources totaled $2,376,203.13, an increase of $342,747.28 over 1934. "This department, which is the official filing and recording agency in state government, quickly reflects the attitude toward business generally," Mr. Flynn reported.

U. S. Takes Stand

London, Feb. 13 (AP)—Delegates of the United States to the International Naval Conference refused today to permit European politics to be brought into the parley. In private conversations between American and British delegates, they warned that discussions must be confined to naval questions. The British had asked whether the Americans would allow the discussion of Franco-German, Anglo-French and Anglo-German matters to be combined with the negotiations for a naval treaty.

Three Workmen Die in Chicago Sewer Tunnel; 3 Nuns Burned in Montreal Convent.

By The Associated Press

Twenty-seven persons dead and 71 injured, many of them seriously, were listed today as the result of four fires and an explosion.

A fire that turned a merry-making throng in a New York restaurant into a fear-maddened mob left five dead and 41 injured before it was brought under control today.

At Lakewood, N. J., the official count of deaths resulting from the burning of the Victoria Mansion Hotel was increased today to 15. At least 20 other persons were injured in the blaze yesterday.

Four members of the Paul Poelart family died in flames that consumed their farm home at Jackson, Minn.

Three workmen were killed and six others injured in an explosion that wrecked a portion of a tunnel being dug for a new sewer in Chicago last night.

Three nuns were burned as fire swept a convent at Montreal.

Tragedy in New York

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—Investigators sought today to place the blame for a fire which trapped 150 guests at a gay dinner dance in a Chinese-American restaurant, leaving five dead and 41 injured.

While several of the injured were reported near death in hospitals, the city fire marshal called Lum Fong, proprietor of the restaurant, and Harry Riker, real estate man, before a board of investigation.

Three men and two women died in the flames, which swept from a ground floor haberdashery into the second floor restaurant at Lexington avenue and 59th street last night.

Burning through the floor, the flames quickly swept over the hanging drapes and flimsy decorations of the (Lum's) restaurant.

In a moment 150 persons who had been waltzing merrily there at a party of a Catholic Holy Name Society, were transformed into a terror-stricken mob.

The dancers, Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy said, survivors told him, refused to heed warnings given by first firemen to reach the scene, but as flames ate through the floor they rushed screaming toward the only exit stairs.

Four of the victims died at the scene while they were being given first aid. The fifth died at Bellevue Hospital.

The five who lost their lives, Brophy's investigation disclosed, were trapped by the surge of the frightened crowd and were killed by inhaling smoke and flames.

The Fire Dead

All New Yorkers, they were:

Martin S. Steiner, 25.

John J. Gandella, 22.

Harry M. [illegible], manager of the restaurant.

Miss Arlene Benjamin, 25.

Miss M. E. Murphy, [illegible].

At the height of the fire several men jumped from the second story windows when the exits became jammed. Others clambered down a huge electric sign to [illegible] feet of the pavement [illegible] dropped.

Annette Dobson, a check girl in the restaurant, described the confusion.

"The stairway [illegible] packed with people and [illegible] and pushing and [illegible] down. [illegible] and torn [illegible] people [illegible] ping on me and pushing me around to get out of the place."

Police and firemen made repeated efforts to fight their way into the building [illegible] were repulsed by the flames and blinding smoke.

Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy estimated the property damage at $25,000.

Julius Sanker, manager, and two employes of the haberdashery store, said that they brought some merchandise from the cellar for display and a few minutes later saw sparks coming from the ceiling of the display window.

Harry Simon, one of the [illegible], ran to the street to turn in an alarm. The two others tried unsuccessfully to extinguish the blaze with pails of water.

Priest Is Acclaimed Hero of Gotham Fire, Was Trampled by Mob

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—A priest who shouted directions to panicky men and women and rescued the injured until he collapsed was called the hero today of the fire which swept through Lum's Chinese restaurant last night.

Survivors of the fire, in which five persons were killed and thirty-nine injured, told how Father George Rosso tried to check the panic by throwing himself in front of the rush for the exits.

The priest, who is assistant pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Solace, was knocked to the floor and trampled in the stampede. Regaining his feet he helped others carry several injured persons down to the street.

The din of screaming drowned his words when he pleaded with the men to be calm and help women to safety.

The priest finally collapsed on the sidewalk, overcome by smoke and burns. He was in a hospital today, his condition described as improving.

Mrs. Annette Dobson, 28, who operated the hat-check booth in the restaurant, said she was trampled by frantic men when she tried to flee down the stairway.

"They looked crazy," she said. "They were shouting, 'get out of my way and let me out of here'. I took one step and then I was pushed down. I couldn't get up.

"The men walked right over me. My head was cut so I had to have five stitches taken. It all happened in a short while, I guess, but now it feels as if those men were walking over me for hours."

Other survivors said they saw men and women stripped to the waist, their clothing torn from them in the wild rush for safety. More than one guest lost his shoes in the scramble.

Some survivors said they fell or were thrown all the way downstairs.

A woman ran into a cigar store across the street at the height of the panic screaming hysterically, "My husband is under the table. Get him out. He fell under the table."

Sixty or seventy coats were thrown wildly on the floor near the cloakroom. Under them were found four bodies.

Bystanders said the spread of the fire seemed almost like an explosion. Shopkeepers on the other side of the street told of seeing a great puff of flame and smoke emerge and roll skyward.

A. J. Barker said his party of four was seated in a booth when they saw light puffs of smoke drifting through the restaurant. They joked about it.

He was the sole survivor of the four.

Torn Pants, Torn Patience

Mountain Lakes, N. J., Feb. 13 (AP)—How to keep school boys from wearing out their pants—that's the board of education's problem today.

It seems that the school boys have a passion for sliding down the concrete incline flanking the steps at the local school and irate parents demand action. Action, the board gravely agrees, is imperative. Two board members said they would slide down the incline a few times themselves to find the secret of its allure and a method for keeping the boys off it.

11 Horses Die in Fire Which Razes Big Barn At Lake Minnewaska

The large main barn on the Lake Minnewaska property, located about half way between Wildmere and Cliff house, was completely destroyed by fire about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. Eleven horses in the structure were burned to death. At the time the fire was discovered the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to get into the basement where the stables were located and release any of the horses confined to their stalls. Only two horses, both of which were out of the building at the time working on the premises, survived.

At the time of the fire the wind was away from the large summer hotels on the premises and they were not endangered.

The men employed about the place during the winter months were out on the property working and it was not until the fire had gained considerable headway that it was discovered. By the time the blaze was seen it had gained such headway that it was impossible to tell how or where it had started.

Beside the 11 horses lost there was also stored in the barn a large amount of farm equipment, harness and carriages used about the premises in the summer season. It was impossible to save the equipment. The barn was a large one, estimated at about 150 feet long.

There was some insurance carried but not enough to cover the loss. Mr. Lathrop, manager, stated that Mr. Smiley, who is in Florida, had been notified of the fire and it was expected that the building would be replaced. He was unable to give an estimate of the loss but stated that it would not be covered by the insurance.

Eight Appointments Made to Post Office Department in City

Postmaster William R. Kraft announced today that eight appointments had been made to the Kingston post office department, two being regular and six temporary appointments. The increase in the number of postal employes is made necessary by the functioning of the new [illegible] laws.

Donald Sweeney of [illegible] has been appointed a regular postal clerk and Thomas F. Rourke of 413 Hasbrouck avenue a regular letter carrier. Mr. Rourke's official appointment has not been received as yet but is expected [illegible].

The three appointments of temporary clerks [illegible] John [illegible] of 103 South Manor avenue, William J. Gallagher of 42 Delaware avenue and Benjamin Marcus of 17 Meadow street.

The three appointments of temporary carriers are William [illegible] of 10 Jarrold street, Arnold P. Turner of 11 Clarendon avenue and Frank G. Weiss of 147 Henry street.

Those who have been appointed will assume their duties on Monday.

Events Around The Empire State

Glens Falls, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—Stephen Porter of Ticonderoga was revealed today as the owner of a white trumpeter swan, found frozen in Hudson river ice near Hudson Falls recently. The rare bird, which had been taken in charge by Morgan B. Leland, state conservation inspector, has been returned to its owner Its mate, left behind when the swan apparently started south with a flock of geese, was captured about a mile from home.

Mayville, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—The Chautauqua county grand jury was prepared today to investigate the death of Jane Cheney Walter, 3, of Jamestown, in a fire at her parents' home, January 15. Coroner David Lincoln, following an inquest, declared that the blaze at the home of Howard S. Walter was of incendiary origin Several subpoenas have been issued by District Attorney David L. Brunstrom.

Canaan, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—Only the smoldering fireproof shell remained today after flames had swept the trade school building at the Berkshire Industrial School for boys here. Fire Chief A. T. Berry of the local volunteer fire company reported. Berry said that fire started about 11 o'clock last night, apparently in the basement boiler room. Lack of water made it impossible to fight the blaze, he said, and boys at the school were unable to salvage equipment from the building.

There is from five to ten or more times as much fat in cream as in the average whole milk. Its butter-fat content ranges from an average of 20 per cent in "light" cream to 40 per cent in "heavy" or whipping cream. The other important nutriments of milk are contained in the portion of cream which is not fat, although of course in quantities only from two-thirds to five-sixths as great as in whole milk.

What's Doing in the N.Y. Legislature Today

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—Today in the New York legislature:

Both houses meet at 11 a. m.

The senate has called for a full house to consider more crime bills, in the wake of Governor Herbert H. Lehman's charge that powerful groups are jeopardizing his anti-crime program.

The assembly has only a perfunctory session, mainly for introduction of bills and advancement to order of final passage of minor and local measures.

BALLANTINE'S ALE
America's finest since 1840

EXPECT a sound, ripened ale when you see the 3 rings of quality . . . Peter Ballantine originated his 3-fold test of ale in 1840. One mouthful, and he judged the PURITY of his brew. A second drink for BODY. A third for FLAVOR . . . The three moisture rings left by his glass on the table, became his trademark—the mark of a great ale today, as then. Look for the 3 rings—THEN ASK FOR "BALLANTINE'S!"

On draught—in bottles (12 & 32 oz.)—in copper-colored KEGLINED cans

Second Performance Of "Little Women"

Wednesday evening St. Mary's Hall was filled with a most appreciative audience, gathered there to enjoy the second performance of "Little Women" given by the students of St. Ursula Academy. They, too, were graciously welcomed by Miss Susanne Cross, for the student body and the Sisters of St. Ursula.

Having had the experience of Tuesday's performance, all of the young ladies who took part in the play, were, if possible, even surer of themselves than the day before, and on every hand were heard exclaimations of surprise and delight over their finished acting, making every character stand out as Louisa M. Alcott would have liked them to.

One particularly remarkable feature of both performances was the fact that not once were the services of the prompters needed, so "letter perfect" were the young actors. That left them free to put into their acting the creative spirit that made the play so vitally real.

At the close of the performance "Laurie," (Miss Anna Mae Weishaup) stepped to the front of the stage and, on behalf of the Sisters of St. Ursula and the students, very heartily thanked the audience for their financial support and kindly reception of their performance, as well as all others who had in any manner assisted them.

It is expected that a goodly sum will be realized for the Scholarship Fund for the St. Ursula Academy of Kingston.

KERHONKSON.

Kerhonkson, Feb. 13. — David Murphy suffered a stroke on Tuesday morning and is in a very serious condition at the present time.

Mrs. Marion Fluickger was entertained at dinner on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Addis.

Mrs. Katie Schoonmaker, who has been ill for a week is gaining slowly at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dunkel have rented rooms in the Jacob Pettibone homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. Hasbrouck Decker and son Dennis, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Anderson.

Little Jean McCullough, who was ill last week, is able to be out again.

Mrs. A. J. Anderson is teaching school at the high school, Ellenville.

On Friday, February 3, the Kerhonkson High School girls defeated the Marlborough girls by a score of 66-5, with Helen Frear centerforward doing most of the scoring with over 40 points to her credit.

The high school boys defeated the Marlborough boys by a score of 23-38. This Friday the Kerhonkson girls will play the Ellenville girls. The Kerhonkson girls have only been defeated once in three years and are also holders of two cups, which they won while in the DUSO League. They have also defeated every team in that league this year, and also Monticello, which is supposed to have the best team in this section. Very little is known about Ellenville this year, and Kerhonkson are the favorites for the game. There will also be a boys' game, they are playing the Spencer's Business School five of Kingston. This is also expected to be a good game, and a large crowd is expected from Ellenville, who have so far evaded every chance to give the Kerhonkson boys a game this year.

Mrs. Relyea Visits Southern Ulster Club

Highland, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Eugene Relyea made her first visit as county chairman for the State Federation of Women's Clubs to the youngest club, the Women's Club of Southern Ulster county, at the home of Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards on Monday evening. She said her duty was to act as the connecting link between the directors and the club. Every club, she said, was to consider funds the week of March 15 for the foundation and endowment fund of the club. She quoted Miss Lena Madeeen Phillips in her talk at the recent breakfast at the Stuyvesant in Kingston as saying too many women hampered her energies by doing too many small things and not putting that energy into one worthwhile activity. She mentioned the better speech department which comes under the education of women of which Mrs. Lawrence Van den Berg is state chairman and quoted that the New Paltz Study Club has begun the self teaching course in better English by devoting a period before the regular meeting to the study. This takes fifteen lessons. Speakers at the luncheon in New York on February 4 at the Hotel McAlpin, were also quoted. One speaker who told how to review a book and the talks on Peace were recommended, the Child Labor amendment also were discussed.

She was followed by Miss Maud Richards, president of the New Paltz Study Club, who brought greetings and an invitation to attend a meeting of the New Paltz Club. She stressed the youth movement and gave instances where training was needed as she met the youth in her work as teacher and the right start meant fewer criminals in the future. She advocated as much schooling as possible and then the vocational schools. Miss Richards completed her talk by telling of her trip to Texas between the holidays and gave so much of interest concerning the Rio Grande river, the dinner in Mexico, the fruit and vegetables and the sunshine that her audience was loath to have her stop.

The president, Mrs. A. L. LeFevre, presided. It was voted to have the meetings in the future come on the last Tuesday of the month, with the meeting in March falling on March 31, at the home of Mrs. E. Bradt on Tillson avenue. The refreshment committee is to be Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Percy Mott, Mrs. Lynn Baker. A card party for April was decided upon with Mrs. James Callahan as chairman. Miss Minna Strohman gave a review of a recent magazine article, "Is Feminism Dead?"

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kline, Miss Luella Ose and Mrs. Ella Burchill. Attending the meeting aside from the guests were Mrs. A. Lorin LeFevre, Mrs. Alice Dumond, Mrs. Charles Osberg, Miss Hilda Osberg, Mrs. Charles Schmidt, Mrs. Hobart Kurtz, Miss Lillian Johnston, Mrs. Emma Bradt, Mrs. John J. Gaffney, Miss Luella Ose, Mrs. Ella Burchill, Mrs. Harriet Ames, Mrs. Troy Cook, Miss Minnie DiLorenzo, Miss Minna Strohman, Mrs. Ernst and Miss Eliza Raymond.

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, Feb. 13—There was no school the past Tuesday due to illness of the teacher, Mrs. Lou Fredd.

Miss Erma Hornbeck returned home Saturday after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Herman Stokes, and family of Accord.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Latimer is improving under the care of Dr. D. O. Williams of Wawarsing.

A number of the local dairymen have been very busy the last week filling their ice houses for the coming season.

Miss Edna Hornbeck is spending an indefinite period with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stokes and children of Accord.

Mrs. J. Hornbeck and son, Homer, entertained relatives from Cornwall at their home on Sunday.

Painful Piles
Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

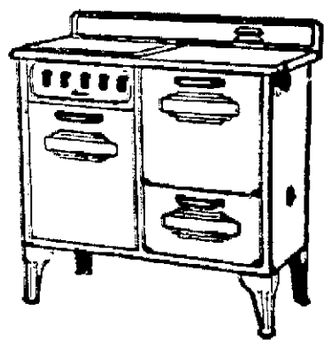

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt's prescription—HEM-ROID—to relieve itching, bleeding or protruding piles. This internal medicine acts quickly even in old stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it helps to heal and restore the affected parts and relieves blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting often fail. McBride Drug Stores and all druggists say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must relieve you of your Pile misery or money back.—Adv.

Women's Republican Club Celebrates the Birthday of Lincoln

The Women's Republican Club of Kingston came to the rescue on Lincoln's birthday and put the city "on the map" with the hundreds of others that celebrated the anniversary of the Great Emancipator's birth.

Kingston's Lincoln Day Dinner was a mental feast solely, but reports from those who attended indicate that it was a most satisfactory one.

The meeting was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, in the crystal room, with Mrs. Harry B. Walker, president of the Kingston Women's Republican Club, presiding.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Louis Otto of the Sixth Ward took charge of the meeting and introduced the speakers—Frederick Stang, clerk of the Board of Supervisors and prominent in state Young Republican affairs; Mace Gerber of the Sixth Ward, clerk to Senator Arthur H. Wicks, and Philip Elting, chairman of the Ulster county Republican committee.

Elting Compliments Speakers

Mr. Elting, who spoke briefly at the conclusion of the meeting, highly complimented the preceding speakers and said that he regretted that the other 20,000 Republicans in Ulster county had not been present to hear their inspiring talks.

He spoke of the importance of the coming election, which he said was the most important election held in this country since the day of Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Elting asked his hearers to read the history of the Republican party and become familiar with its achievements during the administrations of the various Republican presidents that have directed the destinies of the country and of which, he said, "you have a right to feel proud". The speaker said that he was happy to see Republican young men and young women taking an active interest in political affairs and the welfare of their country.

Stang Tells of Lincoln

Mr. Stang was the first speaker of the evening. He told of the humble birth 126 years ago of the great Lincoln, "the man destined to become one of the leaders of the world for all time; his early rise and determined efforts to better his condition, which led subsequently to betterment of conditions for others." Everywhere English is spoken," declared Mr. Stang, "this man's memory is honored and his life held up as a shining example." The speaker saw in Lincoln's utter simplicity the primary reason for his great success, coupled with his quiet determination that right should prevail, come what might. "He was purely a man of the people and it was the people as a whole that interested him."

Conditions Then and Now

The speaker, discussing conditions as they are today, found them not too different from the days of Lincoln—"the Constitution and the Supreme Court were the objects of much concern then as they are now." He said that "the people in this country are getting sick and tired of 'trial and error'; they have been very patient while these various and complicated theories of economics were being tried out, with no success, but there is a limit to everything. They really want to follow responsible and intelligent leadership; if that is not forthcoming they may follow irresponsible demagogy."

Mr. Stang said that the issue this year was between straight and crooked thinking, between realism and muddling. Said he, "give us something that we can tie to that is American, that is sound, that is lasting."

Gerber Attacks New Deal

Mace Gerber, who was next presented, took occasion in his opening to express his appreciation of the work Mrs. Otto had done as committee woman in the Sixth Ward—a Democratic stronghold. He then went on to pay his respects, or lack of respect, to the New Deal, about which he found something "simple, childish and pathetic." Said he, "Its chief defense against those who have ventured to disagree with its policies has been to call names and stick out its tongue."

The speaker declared that people were beginning to use their brains and that some had arrived at the conclusion "that the plans and policies of the New Deal are not as sacred and wise as the tablets handed down to Moses; that altruism, idealism and the milk of human kindness are not recent discoveries of the New Deal." He said that its platform had been written in ink that had faded away almost before it was dry.

Calls it un-American

Saying that the New Deal had been bound up with principles that are repugnant to the American system, carried to absurd lengths, he condemned it as "bureaucratic, autocratic, extravagant, un-American and seeks to remake mankind and America in a little more than the seven Biblical days."

In closing Mr. Gerber said, "We Republicans believe that the people of this state and nation want genuine work, work which does not emanate from relief stations, but which is woven into the industrial life of the country. Such work cannot come without recovery—and recovery cannot be made possible until public confidence and industrial confidence is restored. We believe that generations yet unborn should not be saddled with a crushing debt that they will be called upon to pay."

There will be a very important meeting of the Kingston Players Guild at the "Y" this evening at 8 o'clock sharp. All members are asked to please be present

Senator Ford's Talk To U.P.A. and Guests Sparkled with Humor

Members of the U. P. A. and their invited guests took time out from the Food and Progress Show, Wednesday night, to enjoy their annual banquet and social at Golden Rule Inn, where the group listened to several speakers, including Senator T. Hemingway Ford of Michigan, and were entertained by a New York floor show.

Senator Ford turned out to be a humorist of the first class, and kept the audience in roars of laughter all during his speech. He touched on the topics of the day, smoking a cigar, as he said, to make his talk real informal

"When I arrived here I was lost", said the senator. "But I followed a waiter with four cocktails, and landed right in the room with the committee They gave me a cocktail and now I know how Socony tastes with a cherry in it

"I'm no relation to the Detroit Ford who has done away with the horse and now is working on synthetic milk so he can rub out the cow. And I think he should do something about declaring a closed season on pedestrians. There are two kinds of these, the quick and the dead. If you don't move fast enough you join the latter.

"This really is a great age It's bringing about many inventions, like television But even this can't take the place of the old fashioned keyhole. They're doing a lot with the movies, too. They show them in schools for educational purposes. I'd like to go back and study figures —like Mae West And the ladies are stepping right along with the modern trend, so that the only way a fellow can tell the mother from the daughter, is that the mother gets tired quicker.

Having been introduced as a senator, the speaker naturally had to delve into politics a bit. "There's very little difference between the two big political parties", he said "They're the same only a Republican carries his own drinks, and a Democrat waits to be treated. Personally, I'm a Democrat and I'm waiting for an invitation.

"You hear a lot about Andrew Jackson being the first real Democrat He wasn't. Columbus was Columbus had his voyage financed by the government, didn't know where he was going, didn't know where he landed and returned without knowing where he had been

"And speaking of this administration as a courageous one, it really has been Why, the President had to be courageous. The banks closed right after he took the job, even before he could get his first pay check. And speaking of checks, instead of coming back marked no funds, they came back marked no banks."

Like all the other after dinner speakers who have been around a bit, Senator Ford touched on the Ethiopian war. "If you read the papers, you'll find the sides take turns winning. The Ethiopians win in the morning and then they let the Italians win in the afternoon. But, anyway, we won't get mixed up in this affair because the neutrality bill prevents the sale of firearms to anyone but American gunmen."

Flicking the ashes from his cigar, Senator Ford said, "I smoke these instead of cigarettes, because I think cigarettes make a man look womanish. And, besides, I was given a demonstration to show what cigarette smoke will do to a handkerchief if you blow it through. I tried the same thing with soup. And you should have seen what that did to the handkerchief."

This isn't all the senator said, and every word he spoke was heartily enjoyed.

C. Ray Everett, treasurer of the U. P. A., was the toastmaster. Other speakers he introduced were Alderman at Large John J. Schwenk, who officially welcomed the merchants and guests in the name of Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman now vacationing in Miami; Clifford T. Bennett, president of the association, who praised the business men for their cooperation, and Martin Schleede, one of the directors.

Mr. Schleede introduced several other food and produce men—M. A. Weishaupt, vice president; John Coyle, past president of the State Growers Association, Messrs Betts of the National Biscuit, Kelly of Standard Brands, Miggs of Williams cake concern, Lewis of R. G. Reynolds coffee, Postmaster William R Kraft and Fire Chief Joseph L Murphy.

When R Miller of the State Retail Grocers Association took the floor he said, "We are proud of the U. P. A. You surely have shown progressiveness, and it is a pleasure for us to have on our board as treasurer your president, Clifford T Bennett Your organization should be an inspiration to other associations and I'm not going to miss telling them when I have the opportunity Keeping everlastingly at it brings success. You have proven it"

After the program of speeches, Golden Rule Inn orchestra played an overture and the floor show went on, featuring Willie Clarke, comedian extraordinary and a clever magician; also plenty of singing, dancing and beautiful girls

Parent-Teacher Associations

Mt. Marion.

The February meeting of the Mt. Marion P-T A. was held Tuesday evening, February 11, with 32 members and visitors present The meeting was opened by singing the Get-Together Song This was followed by the secretary's report of the last meeting The treasurer, Carl Cousen, being ill, there was no treasurer's report There was no new business to take up Mrs William Myer, president, announced that this was the 39th anniversary of Founder's Day and asked Mrs. Gillison to read a short history of the P T. A Mrs William Werner then proceeded with the ceremony of lighting the candles on the birthday cake in memory of the founders of the Parent-Teacher Association, Alice McClennen Burnie and Phoebe Hearst.

The lights in the school house were extinguished and the birthday candles glowed cheerily while John Harder took up a collection to be used for extension work. Then also while the room was soft in the mellow candlelight the Rev. Harvey Hoffman offered up a prayer for help in and blessing on the work of the coming year

The president then introduced B. C Van Ingen, superintendent of Kingston schools, who talked most interestingly and eloquently on Mexico. Mr. Van Ingen followed his talk with lantern slides of the country, types of people and interesting and beautiful buildings. At the conclusion of his program, Mr. Van Ingen was given a standing vote of thanks. Everyone felt that he had learned a great deal about our neighbors across the border and were much better acquainted with them

The meeting then adjourned Refreshments were served and everyone was given a slice of birthday cake.

If you see a man driving along in a Rolls Royce, the chances are that he used to be a farmer drawing NRA wages from the AAA for not growing things, is now getting along fine on relief and is celebrating the receipt of his bonus money by buying a flashy car in expectation of his pension under the Townsend plan.—Boston Transcript.

NEW DARK AGES?

A startling arraignment of current civilization is brought by Stanley Casson, writing in the February Harper's. Twice, he points out, world civilization has failed and lapsed into barbarism. The first time was twelve centuries before Christ, when northern hordes destroyed Mediterranean culture. Finally developed the great Greek and Roman civilizations, but they went to pieces in the fifth century A. D., giving way to Dark Ages that lasted several hundred years. There followed a gradual building up of enlightenment, progress and decency after that for nearly a thousand years. But this civilization, he thinks, has now begun to break down.

The new downfall began, he says, with the World War, when the finest and most powerful instruments produced by this modern awakening were used not to help mankind, but to destroy. He sees a rapid lapse since, with nation after nation sliding down hill. The symptoms of decay are like those of ancient Rome. The perversion of scientific knowledge and power over nature grows."

"Freedom of speech and act, tolerance and justice," he points out, "have vanished in all the countries of the world except America, Britain, France and some of the smaller states of Europe." Most of the national and international morality has gone. Fascism and extreme Nationalism, greed and intolerance, waste of resources and powers, government by force and tyranny, and turning of wonderful inventions into weapons of evil, frontiers erected against trade and ideas, mobilization of whole nations for vicious ends, aggression against free nations, these are signs of the general decay. Is it a true picture? If it is half true, or a quarter true, Americans had better quit fighting over personalities and petty differences of opinion and start building a country fit to stand firm in a shaky world

PASSENGER-APPEAL

Now that the railroads have started to modernize engines, coaches, service and so on, there seems to be no week without its announcement of something new of interest to passengers. One of these is the Luxury Limited on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe.

The Luxury Limited boasts a light-weight, stainless steel coach with 52 seats instead of the regular 80. The extra space is given to lounging and dressing rooms. The coach is heavily insulated and air-conditioned. The windows are double-paned, shatter-proof glass, with nitrogen sealed between to prevent frosting. The seats are wide-spaced, revolving and reclining, with rubber pillows for cushions. American walnut and light oak veneer are used on the walls. The ceiling is light ivory, the upholstery gray-green. Wheel trucks are equipped with hydraulic shock absorbers and rubber insulation.

Such an outfit ought to attract passengers with its appeal to the eye, its comfort for the physical being, its lack of wear and tear on nerves. And after all, why shouldn't railroad travel be made as charming and comfortable as possible?

FINNISH-AMERICAN TANGLE

Now it is said that Finland, regarded as this country's only honest war debtor, may begin defaulting on her war debt payments. If she does, it will be because of a local and diplomatic tangle.

In 1918 a number of Finnish sailing vessels were detained for war reasons for several months in New York harbor. The owners of the ships later put in damage claims. These have not been allowed. Now the Finnish owners are making efforts to have the amount of the claims taken off future debt installments. The original claims were placed at $726,000. Accumulated interest has nearly doubled that sum. The State Department has refused to recommend to Congress legislation authorizing Finland to go into the United States Court of Claims to recover the damage. Without such legislation the Finns are stuck.

If they make only partial payment on their war debt they will have to be considered in default on the rest, unless the President of the United States should decide to ignore the deduction and accept the instalments as token payments. It all seems most unfortunate. There ought to be some better solution of the problem than making a defaulter of faithful Finland.

DOWN WITH WOMEN

John Erskine, the music professor who knows about the home life of Helen of Troy and Eve of Eden, has written a new book about "The Influence of Women." Mr. Erskine thinks that influence is far too great.

It has become a woman's world, he laments. Man is becoming a mere slave to the more designing and imperious sex, and must save himself somehow from female dictatorship.

This position, so far as may be judged from the literary reviews, is not a mere pose. The author demands that women take their hands off education and the schools be put in charge of men. He wants to get the wealth of the nation out of the control of "lawless women," who squander money themselves and censor their husbands' spending. Let them keep their maiden names and quit their arrogant assumption of men's names. Deprive them of the vote and let them be wage-earners or home-makers. If the tyranny and ruthlessness of the feminine sex are so great as Mr. Erskine thinks, it will be readily understood how any masculine bystander hesitates to express an opinion on this matter. The rest of us must play safe. If the hardy Mr. Erskine is so sure of his ground and the wisdom of his program, all right—let him do it!

SINUS TROUBLE

The question is often asked as to why there is now so much sinus trouble, sinusitis; it must be a new disease.

Sinusitis is not a new disease; it has likely always existed. However, as you know, appendicitis was called inflammation of the bowels in the old days, the pain of sinusitis was called neuralgia and the profuse discharge from the nose called catarrh.

What is sinusitis?

The sinuses are cavities in the bones of the skull, all of which open into the nose. They all have the same moist or mucous lining (membrane) as the nose. This means that any inflammation of the lining of the nose can and often does extend into the sinuses and causes sinusitis. You can understand this when you remember that if water is spilled on the hall floor of the house, it will flow along the floor to the dining room, living room or kitchen, because it is all on the same floor.

While colds, influenza, and other ailments can cause inflammation of the lining of the nose and the sinuses, Dr. Lee M. Hind tells us in Hygeia that allergy — being sensitive to certain substances — is the cause of sinusitis in about half the cases. The lining of the sinuses are inflamed by these substances either directly by being in the air or by the eating of certain foods. "For example the offending material in the air which is being inhaled or breathed into the lungs may be house dust, orris root, feathers or some other unsuspected substance. Or a person may be sensitive to any food and sometimes to certain drugs used in the home such as quinine, aspirin, and many others. The symptoms are similar to hay fever except that they continue the year round. Sneezing, obstruction of the nose, and headaches are present and the patients think they have a continuous cold. The lining of the sinuses swell—become waterlogged—thus losing their power to fight off harmful organisms so that a chronic infection results."

Dr. Hind says that while medical and surgical treatment may be necessary in some cases, improving the general health should be the first thought and suggests: eat a well balanced diet of meat, vegetables and fruits; eating more fruit and vegetables and less meat if little or no physical work is done.

Cutting down on salt and liquids is recommended by some research physicians.

Goat Rustling.

Charlotte, N. C. (AP).—Rustling goats is a new problem for police here. A company that keeps the animals on its premises for the purpose of clearing the place of weeds reported the theft of several goats and kids.

Anti Food "Fluoride".

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP).—The local city government believes in feeding its prisoners good rations and plenty of them. If cost confirmation are an indication. Cost per meal per prisoner in January was 24½ cents.

THE BOOMERANG CLUE

By Agatha Christie

SYNOPSIS. Frankie Derwent and Bobby Jones suspect that either Roger Bassington-French or Dr. Nicholson murdered Alan Carstairs. Frankie inclines toward the doctor, who runs a drug cure; Bobby toward Bassington-French chiefly because Frankie seems to like Roger. Bobby posing as a solicitor, is pumping a Mrs. Rivington about Carstairs, and learns that the latter showed much interest in the wholesome—which would be more to the point if either Frankie or Bobby could prove that Carstairs actually was the man who was murdered.

Chapter 26

TENDER SCENE

BOBBY asked how the subject of the Nicholsons had come up, but this Mrs. Rivington was unable to tell him.

"But what is it you want to know about Mr. Carstairs?" she asked.

"I really wanted his address," explained Bobby. "As you know, we act for him and we've just had a rather important cable from New York—you know there's rather a serious fluctuation in the dollar just now—"

Mrs. Rivington nodded with desperate intelligence.

"And so," continued Bobby rapidly, "we wanted to get into touch with him—to get his instructions. And he hasn't left an address—and having heard him mention he was a friend of yours, I thought you might possibly have news of him."

"Oh, I see," said Mrs Rivington, completely satisfied. "What a pity! But he's always rather a vague man, I should think."

"Oh, distinctly so," said Bobby. "Well—" He rose. "I apologize for taking up so much of your time."

"Oh, not at all," said Mrs. Rivington.

Dr. Nicholson was holding Sylvia's hands.

"So that's all right," thought Bobby, as he walked away down Tite Street. "I seem to have taken Dolly What's-her-name's character away for good, but I daresay she deserves it. And that charming idiot of a woman will never wonder why, if I wanted Carstair's address, I didn't simply ring up and ask for it!"

BACK in Brook Street he and Frankie discussed the matter from every angle.

"It looks as though it were really pure chance that took him to the Bassington-ffrenches," said Frankie thoughtfully.

"I know. But evidently when he was down there some chance remark directed his attention to the Nicholsons."

"So that, really, it is Nicholson who is at the heart of the mystery, not the Bassington-ffrenches?"

"It seems like it."

"Why only 'seems'?"

"Well, there is just one other possibility. In some way, Carstairs may have found out that the Rivingtons were going down to lunch with the Bassington-ffrenches. He may have overheard some chance remark in a restaurant—at the Savoy perhaps. So he rings them up, very urgent to see them, and what he hopes may happen does happen. They're very booked up and they suggest his coming down with them. That is possible, Frankie."

"But it seems a very roundabout method of doing things."

"No more roundabout than your accident," said Bobby.

"My accident was vigorous direct action," said Frankie coldly.

Bobby removed Lord Marchington's clothes and replaced them where he had found them. Then he donned his chauffeur's uniform once more, and they were soon speeding back to Staverly.

"If Roger has fallen for me," said Frankie demurely, "he'll be pleased I've come back so soon. He'll think I can't bear to be away from him for long."

"I'm not sure that you can bear it, either," said Bobby. "I've always heard that really dangerous criminals are singularly attractive."

"Somehow I can't believe he is a criminal."

"So you remarked before."

Bobby drove up the drive in silence. Frankie sprang out and went into the house without a backward glance. Bobby drove away.

The house seemed very silent. Frankie glanced at the clock. It was half-past two.

"They don't expect me back for hours yet," she thought. "I wonder where they are."

She opened the door of the library and went in, stopping suddenly on the threshold.

Dr. Nicholson was sitting on the sofa holding both Sylvia Bassington-ffrench's hands in his.

Sylvia jumped to her feet and came across the room towards Frankie.

"He's been telling me," she said. Her voice was stifled. She put both hands to her face as though to hide it from view.

"It's too terrible!" she sobbed, and brushing past Frankie, she ran out of the room.

DR. NICHOLSON had risen. Frankie advanced a step or two towards him. His eyes watchful as ever, met hers.

"Poor lady!" he said suavely. "It has been a great shock to her."

The muscles at the corner of his mouth twitched. For a moment or two Frankie fancied that he was amused. And then, quite suddenly, she realized that it was quite a different emotion.

The man was angry. He was holding himself in, hiding his anger behind a suave, bland mask, but the emotion was there. It was all he could do to hold that emotion in.

There was a moment's pause.

"It was best that Mrs. Bassington-ffrench should know the truth," said the Doctor. "I want her to induce her husband to place himself in my hands."

"I'm afraid," said Frankie gently, "that I interrupted you." She paused. "I came back sooner than I meant."

• • •

On Bobby's return to the inn he was greeted with the information that someone was waiting to see him.

"It's a lady. You'll find her in Mr. Askew's little sitting-room."

Bobby made his way there slightly puzzled. Unless she had flown there on wings he could not see how Frankie could possibly have got to the Anglers' Arms ahead of him, and that his visitor could be anyone but Frankie never occurred to him.

He opened the door of the small room which Mr. Askew kept as his private sitting-room. Sitting bolt upright in a chair was a slender figure dressed in black—the girl of the photograph.

Bobby was so astonished that for a moment or two he could not speak. Then he noticed that the girl was terribly nervous. Her small hands were trembling and closed and unclosed themselves on the arm of the chair. She seemed too nervous even to speak, but her large eyes held a kind of terrified appeal.

"So it's you," said Bobby at last.

SIMPLE CLOTHES PREDICTED FOR WIMBLEDON CONTESTS

London (AP).—"Clothes for the 1936 Wimbledon championships will be very simple and well tailored," predicts Katharine Stammers, well-known British lawn tennis player. "The day of fussy pleats is over.

"Tennis girls no longer look like ballet dancers. They insist on their clothes being as well cut as those of the men."

Miss Dorothy Round, also a Wimbledon star, Miss Stammers has joined the staff of a sports specialist firm to design tennis wear.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—If any one concluded that Senator Glass of Virginia suffered a personal defeat when the senate confirmed the slender, brisk-mannered Marriner S. Eccles as chairman of the federal reserve board then he is unfamiliar with what actually happened.

The diminutive, elderly Virginian, known as the "Father of the Federal Reserve System," still exercises his prerogatives of parenthood and in a most effective fashion.

It is true if Glass had had his way Eccles would not have been made chairman of the board. On more than one occasion he has violently opposed the Utahan's monetary views.

The "off-the record" story is that Glass, realizing that his single-handed opposition to Eccles' confirmation by the senate would be futile, decided against taking his fight to the floor of that body. As a result, without a word of opposition by senators, the nomination was confirmed.

• • •

Board's 'Pretty Safe'

GLASS had another card up his sleeve, however, when he decided to forego open opposition to Eccles' confirmation. The manner in which he played it probably brought him more satisfaction in the end than if he had kept Eccles from being confirmed.

He made use of the simple device of making sure that a majority of Eccles' associates on the board would be either men of his choosing or those whom he considered safe from his point of view.

As a result, the present set-up of the board indicates that Glass' philosophy still will be the dominating influence in national banking and financial circles, regardless of what Eccles may or may not do.

That's the basis for his statement, made immediately after the senate had registered its approval of the membership of the board, that he considered it "pretty safe."

It is known definitely that Glass made almost daily telephone calls to one man he wanted on the board, urging him to accept the appointment. Only the desire of this individual (who holds one of the highest banking posts in the administration) to return to private life as soon as possible made him refuse.

• • •

Glass Resented It

THE trouble between Glass and Eccles dates back to the time the banking bill was up for consideration in the last session of congress. Glass resented what he described as Eccles' attempt to dictate to congress what kind of legislation should be passed.

"Mr. Eccles may discuss his bill in the newspapers as much as he pleases," he said at the time, "but we will discuss and settle it in congress.

"The newest member of the board never had a day's association with a federal reserve bank in his life, but proceeded within 90 days after his nomination to propose revolutionary changes in the system."

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 16

Losses on Stock Transactions

No gain or loss is recognized for income-tax purposes as a result of the exchange of stock or securities in a corporation solely for stock or securities in another corporation in pursuance of a plan of reorganization to which both corporations are parties or as a result of the exchange of stock or securities in a corporation solely for stock or securities in the same corporation in connection with a recapitalization. Where money or other property is received along with such exchanges, no loss is recognized, although a taxable gain may result. The statute also prohibits the deduction for any loss from the sale or other disposition of stock or securities where the taxpayer, within a period of 30 days before or after the date of sale or other disposition, acquires or enters into a contract or option to acquire substantially identical stock or securities.

Two important changes are made by section 112 of the Revenue Act of 1934. Under section 112 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1932 no taxable gain was recognized as having resulted to the recipient stockholders of a corporation from a distribution of stock or securities in such corporation or in another corporation, a party to a reorganization, without the surrender of the stock in respect of which the distribution was made. These provisions are entirely omitted from the Revenue Act of 1934, thus giving such distributions the status of dividend distributions paid in property.

The other important change is in the definition of the term "reorganization" as contained in section 112 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1934. In section 112 (i) (1) (A) of the Revenue Act of 1932 the term "reorganization" is defined to mean "a merger or consolidation (including the acquisition by one corporation of at least a majority of the voting stock and at least a majority of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of another corporation, or substantially all the properties of another corporation)." The corresponding provisions of section 112 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1934 define the term "reorganization" as "(A) a statutory merger or consolidation, or (B) the acquisition by one corporation in exchange solely for all or a part of its voting stock: of at least 80 per centum of the voting stock and at least 80 per centum of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of another corporation; or of substantially all the properties of another corporation." The remaining provisions of section 112 (g) (1) are substantially the same as the provisions of section 112 (i) (1) (B), (C), and (D) of the Revenue Act of 1932.

Sundown Stories

Making Valentines

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"OH, YOU'RE back, you're back!" barked Rip, and jumped up and down before Willy Nilly, wagging his tail until Top Notch, who was watching everything, feared that Rip would lose his tail.

Christopher Columbus Crow had flown over Puddle Muddle and the countryside around looking for Willy Nilly, and when he had come back, cawing the news that Willy Nilly was on his way home and that he was safe and looked well, the Puddle Muddlers were so happy they jumped around and laughed and cried and screamed and gurgled with glee.

"You're all right, you're all right!" bleated Sweet Face, the lamb. "We were so worried about you."

"Let me take your things and bring you something to eat," quacked Mrs. Quacko, as she waddled fussily around Willy Nilly.

"Are you very tired?" asked Top Notch. "You really look surprisingly well to my rooster point of view. And very handsome." He pulled his mirror out from beneath his wing, and held it in front of Willy Nilly.

Then the little man told his animal friends all that had happened, while they listened, fascinated, to the stories of the great pack of wolves, of the old Grandfather, and they were thankful it had turned out so well. Thankful they were, too, that the wolves had gone away.

"Now," said Willy Nilly, "I'm going over to the store in the next village to get some red paper and some other odds and ends. We might be wanting to make some valentines."

All evening the Puddle Muddlers were very busy. Sometimes they laughed to themselves—rather mischievous laughs!

Tomorrow—"Valentine's Day."

TALKS TO PARENTS

Boys' Work, Girls' Work

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Mrs. Jones divided work into two parts—man's and woman's. The girls washed dishes, swept, made beds; the boys did only such manual labor as mowing lawns or wielding a hammer. Of course the housework was a continuous grind, the man's work sporadic and rare. The girls were over-worked, but it seemed quite natural to see the boys between occasional chores sitting around doing nothing.

It hurts no boy to do housework unless he is made to feel that in some way he lowers himself or makes himself ridiculous by doing it. The women of the world who have so ardently clamored to be men's equals will never succeed in their aim until they stop suggesting to boys who in the course of time become men that there is something demeaning about women's work.

Few women are ashamed to be found driving nails or shovelling snow. But a boy found baking cookies would be overcome with embarrassment. The mothers are really responsible for this point of view.

The boy who can cook, sweep, make beds and do mending has a great unfair advantage over the boy who can do nothing about the house. On camping trips, business trips, boarding in cheap hotels, living in bachelors' quarters, he can make himself comfortable where the man who can do only man's work is very apt to be wretchedly uncomfortable. Classes in domestic science for boys and in carpentry and electrical work for girls would be great to start in the schools.

Failing that, however, mothers would do well to make no invidious distinctions between the duties in the home. Work is work. What type it is makes no difference. Let everyone pitch in and do his share as that play and work may be evenly divided in the household.

Salvation Army Drive for Funds

General Chairman N. LeVan Haver of the General Campaign Committee of the local Salvation Army, announces that the campaign to obtain funds for this organization for 1936 will begin with a mass meeting to be held in the court room of the County Court House next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The meeting will open with the musical program rendered by the Kingston PWA Orchestra under the direction of Sal Castiglione, instructor and director. The chief speaker on this occasion will be Frederic Snyder, famous lecturer.

Although this meeting is primarily for the general committee, chairmen, team captains and committee workers, the meeting is open to the public and all friends of the Army are cordially invited to be present. There will be no solicitation of funds at this meeting.

Beginning with Monday noon, February 17, and each noon thereafter at 12:15 o'clock, there will be a luncheon-report meeting at Salvation Army Hall, 90 North Front street, for all workers in the campaign. During the week the women workers under the leadership of Mrs John B. Sterley, chairman of the Women's Division, will endeavor to call at every residence and apartment in the city. Five men's teams under the direction of George B. Matthews, chairman of the Business Division, will endeavor to call at every office and store in the five principal business sections of the city.

It is the utmost importance to the poor of the community that next week's campaign be successfully completed and the cooperation of contributors and friends of the Army throughout the city is urgently requested by Mr. Haver.

PORT EWEN BOY SCOUTS HELD MEETING MONDAY

The Boy Scouts of Troop 26 of Port Ewen held their regular business meeting Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the Port Ewen Reformed church hall.

The meeting opened in new order by John Spinnenweber, assistant scoutmaster. About 7:10 o'clock the boys were put through an ordinary drill which was satisfactory.

At this meeting the troop was fortunate to have Principal Lewis of School District No. 13 deliver a very interesting talk. His topic was, "Choosing Essentials from Non-Essentials." In his little oration he used incidents concerning President F. D. Roosevelt, Abraham Lincoln, and Benjamin Franklin to illustrate his various points.

After Principal Lewis concluded his short but interesting talk the boys were divided into classes to be taught the various tests in the course of scouting.

Jack Potter, Joseph Leiching, Joseph Clark, Joseph Malia, and others passed tests.

CAPITAL NEWS

HOLLISTER STURGES, Jr.

The Morning Prayer

Albany, Feb. 13—Each morning that either house of the legislature functions the day is opened with a prayer. Usually a local minister offers this. On Lincoln's Birthday it was significant that a negro took charge of the religious service, and made a reference to the celebrated emancipator as "The American martyr of freedom."

An Admission

William T. Byrne, of Albany, who is one of the busiest of state senators, admitted recently that some of the crime legislation was puzzling and that even he had occasion to change his mind on voting three times within 24 hours. Senator Byrne is recognized as one well versed in the law. He went on record to admit his inability to decide thoroughly just how he should vote on certain matters. With such a learned scholar as Mr. Byrne it is pretty hard to fathom how laymen who happen to be legislators can decide intelligently on the anti-crime bills.

Immunity

Getting back into Mr. McNaboe's corner again, one may wonder why he dared say such a thing about his chief executive as the word "impeachment." Under the constitution he is immuned for anything he says on the Senate floor. He could recommend anything he wanted to and still be safe from any public or private suit.

Mr. McNaboe took pains to point out that no member, again under the constitution, may be questioned at any time under any circumstance his reasons for acting as a legislator in voting, and he accused Mr. Lehman of doing this very thing.

Flood Control

Senator Martin W. Deyo, of Binghamton, tells the writer that the Ross bill setting up a temporary commission to assist the federal government with working out flood control will not cost the state very much money at all, as the federal agency will finance all the real work. He admitted, however, that there may be a small charge for hiring a clerk or two.

Last summer's floods were something new for the Binghamton senator's territory, although Ulster county has been known to suffer before. In appointing members of the proposed commission, once accepted, Governor Lehman will doubtless appoint men now working with the sectional commission in the southern tier of the state that suffered last summer from floods.

MT MARION

Mt Marion, Feb. 13—Miss Isabel Young left for New York city this week to seek employment. Her friends wish her success in this difficult undertaking.

Mt. Marion has many sick folk this week, among them being: The Misses Sylvia Plass, Ruth Young, Catherine Myer and Warren Myer, Jr., who are ill with grip. Irving Snyder is ill with pneumonia.

Miss Dorothy Briggs, who was injured while tobogganing several weeks ago, is now able to be up and around for short intervals.

Miss Elizabeth Finger of Phoenicia visited her aunt, Miss Ella Finger, this past week-end.

The Ladies' Aid served over 125 people at their supper at Hill's Friday evening and cleared $30. The food, which was both abundant and delicious, was praised by all. The Sickles entertainers, consisting of six members, supplied music for dancing after supper. All who came spent a most enjoyable evening.

This evening the Mt Marion dartball team will play Lake Katrine at Frank Hill's. On Friday the ball team of the Community Club will hold a card party and dance at Hill's.

Highland, Feb. 13—The Tuesday afternoon Bridge Club met this week with Mrs. Clifton Carpenter. Substitute players were Mrs. Martha C. Schantz, Mrs. George Dean, Mrs. Carl Meekin.

Attending the banquet and reception to State Master Crone of the Odd Fellows Tuesday evening in Hasbrouck Memorial hall at Modena were District Deputy Mrs. Ralph Dirk and staff, Mrs. Gideon Tompkins, Mrs. Max Gruner, Mrs. J. W. Blakely, Mrs. Herbert Scholefield, Mrs. William Cramer, Mrs. George Erichsen, Mrs. Harold DuBois and the flower girls, Mrs. Cecelia Petersen, Mrs. Verlie Jennings, Mrs. Lloyd Plass. Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Donovan, Mrs. Sarah Goerth, Charles Goerth, Mrs. Pauline Gerkin, Herbert Scholefield, Gideon Tompkins, Max Gruner, Harvey Tompkins, Harold DuBois, George Erichsen, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkinson, Miss Charlotte Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. David Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Palmatier, Mr. Petersen, Miss Emily Jane Bradshaw. A chicken dinner was served, followed by dancing and many of the old fashioned dances were used.

The Easy Aces Bridge Club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Louis Seaman. Mrs. Nathan Williams was the substitute player for Mrs. W. D. Corwin.

A special meeting of the trustees of the Presbyterian church was held Thursday evening in the church hall.

Paul Stiller of Carlstadt, N. J., has been in town since Monday owing to the sickness and death of his brother. He was joined on Wednesday by members of his family.

Jacob J. Donovan met with a fall last week that caused a painful injury. He stepped from a chair to a bench to reach an upper shelf and when he stepped again on the chair it tipped and threw him to the floor, where he struck his side and back of his head. He was rendered unconscious for a short time, and being alone was able to reach his home when he became conscious and called a doctor who rendered first aid.

Lavergne Davis and the Rev. Herbert Killinder were in Newburgh Tuesday evening attending an Epworth League meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Feeter of Kingston were in town Tuesday when Mr. Feeter attended a meeting of the directors of the First National Bank.

Mrs. John Graham was hostess Tuesday evening to the Tuesday Bridge Club. Her sister, Mrs. Jere Miller, of Poughkeepsie was a guest player.

In the contest prepared for the Stamp Club Tuesday evening when they met with Donald Wood, Harold Vandervoort was 100 per cent in the answers of very hard questions. Louis Palmer, Jr., had the second best and John Jones was third. The questions had been prepared by Mrs. Clyde Matthews, vice president, who presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, Carl Dapp. The attention of the members was called to the bulletin placed in the library by Oliver J. Tillson. The members present were Oliver Tillson, Mrs. Clyde Matthews, Harold Vandervoort, John Jones, Donald Wood. Others attending were, Louis Palmer, Jr., Follett Winchester, Masters Canale and Parker, Meech Woolsey, Mrs. Oliver Tillson, Mrs. Emily Davis. The meeting on February 25 will be at the home of Lavergne Davis.

Modena, Feb. 13.—The Home Bureau meeting which was scheduled for Thursday, February 13, dealing with the project of "Civics" has been postponed indefinitely. Announcement of this meeting, which was to be held at Mrs. George Matheison's home, will be made at the earliest possible date.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Shaw, of this village, also Mr. and Mrs. Roy Croswell and daughter, June, of Highland, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Shultis, Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Black has been ill with an attack of grip.

The wedding gown of Mrs. Rufus Jenkins was featured in the pageant staged in connection with St. Valentine's Day observance at the Plattekill Grange Hall, Saturday evening.

Every other German is insured, either directly or indirectly, against sickness.

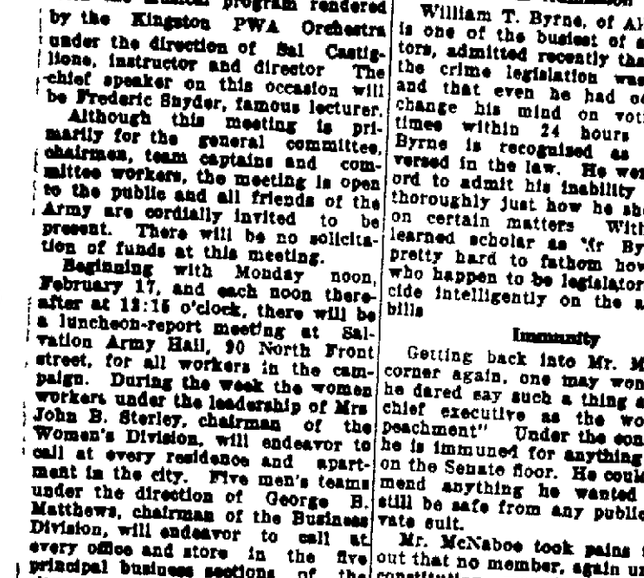

DRY BROOK

Dry Brook, Feb. 13.—Miss Helen Todd is again ill at her home suffering from a relapse of the "grip."

LeMoure Stewart and son Paul of Roxbury and Miss Eleanor Leal of Cross River were Sunday dinner guests of his parents here.

Mrs. George Stewart, who has been suffering fom an attack of intestinal "flu" for the past week is able to be up and about.

Who was that old-fashioned politician who predicted that the revenue Uncle Sam got in the way of liquor tax would be enough to balance the budget?

BREAD Provides Fuel Energy to Withstand the Cold

THE human body is like an engine. It burns up fuel in proportion to the work it does. Your children at play out in the cold, burn up more fuel energy than when they sit in the house. White bread is an excellent source of fuel energy which is required by young and old.

Bread is the GOOD COMPANION of all foods—milk, meat, cheese, salads, jams and all spreads. Since bread is a most economical source of fuel energy, children should be given all they want. Particularly is this true in winter because bread provides fuel energy to withstand the cold.

I'M SO GLAD YOU HAVEN'T LET DISH-WASHING RUIN YOUR HANDS

THIS EASY WAY TO WASH DISHES IS GREASELESS, TOO

EVERYONE knows how famous Rinso is for washing clothes whiter—without hard scrubbing or boiling. Its rich suds — thick and creamy, even in hardest water — are marvelous for dishes, too.

Wait until you see how grease soaks off! A hot rinse...and dishes come clean —no greasy film remains. And Rinso is so kind to your hands. Try it for pots and pans, for woodwork, tubs, basins. No grit. Makes all cleaning easier.

Snyder Speaks at The Triangle Club

Sixty members and friends of the Triangle Club gathered at the Y. M. C. A. for the weekly dinner and speaking program, which featured Frederick Snyder, Kingston's gift to the world of lecturers, who spoke on International Relations.

Following his address, Mr. Snyder stayed with the group until near midnight answering questions about international affairs, giving his opinion based on personal contact with conditions in foreign lands and in the United States.

The committee that arranged for the appearance of Mr. Snyder, was highly complimented for procuring his services. The members were Herbert C. Myers, chairman; Herman Schwenk, William E. Mellert, and Dr. J. A. Comstock.

Mr. Snyder advised a "personal policy of international relations by each individual. Each person should decide for himself, just how he feels toward people of other nations and those here among us of other nationality."

In describing national troubles abroad, he held dictatorship the worst disease, but warned that "we should not condemn the people of any other nation because we do not believe in their leader."

The speaker put it up to the United States to take the lead in international affairs, because "if we do not, other nations will align themselves against and take the lead to our detriment." His advice was that every American should devote much thought to future trends among nations.

Mr. Snyder predicted a serious war as the aftermath of current troubles among nations, but was of the opinion that at the end of another war nations would be ready to settle down to understandable relations among themselves. England and the United States, he said, lead in the stand against war.

Indicating that war clouds threaten the United States, the speaker said troubles for this country are likely to come from sources now generally unsuspected.

Herbert C. Myers introduced the speaker, whose talk followed the regular weekly supper prepared and served by the ladies of the Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary. President Warren Smith presided as toastmaster and opened the speakers program.

ACCORD

Accord, Feb. 12—Miss Doris Palmer is employed as bookkeeper at the Rondout Paper Mills at Napanoch.

Edward Coddington, who recently underwent an operation for removal of his tonsils, is recuperating rapidly at his home.

The 4-S meeting which was to have been held at the home of Charles and Edward Kelder on Tuesday evening, February 11, has been postponed indefinitely because of road and weather conditions.

The Ladies' Aid meeting of the Rochester Reformed Church was well attended, about 17 being present, and all spent a very enjoyable day, voting Mrs. Dewitt a most gracious hostess. The next meeting will be held on March 4 at the home of the president, Mrs. Fred Hendrickson. This too, will be an all-day meeting and a pot luck luncheon will be served at noon.

Mrs. Ada Voight, who has been ill at her home, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Clarissa Hogan, who has been ill with the measles, has again taken up her duties at Edward Davenport's.

Due to high winds, the town and county roads are again drifted with snow and in many cases horses and sleighs have to be resorted to.

Supervisor Howard Anderson has purchased snow removal equipment and is doing much good work with it.

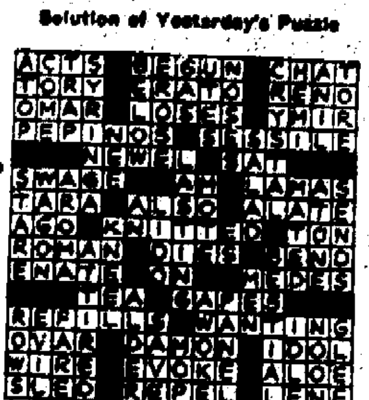

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lawrence and son, Brian, and Mrs. Phoebe Lawrence spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gallaway and family of Wawarsing.

A MODERN GAS RANGE that HEATS your kitchen too!

Costs little or no more to use than an old-fashioned range

This Simple Burner

INSTALLED in the fire-box of your present combination range or coal range, gives you gas heating for your kitchen at low cost.

NOW you can have clean, quick, economical heating for your kitchen — in a word — gas heating. Modern ranges are now available locally with built-in gas heaters that give you quick, even heat at a turn of the hand. Or you may have a heating burner installed in your present combination range.

The cost is low, for two reasons. First, you qualify for a lower rate for gas as your use increases. Second, you avoid wasted heat by turning off the heater the minute you no longer need it.

Community Players Met at Woodstock

Woodstock, Feb. 13—At a meeting of the Woodstock Community Players held on Sunday evening a detailed report on the production of "The Ryerson Mystery" was given and two new committees formed.

A stage properties committee under the supervision of the stage manager and the director was elected. This committee is composed of Willard Allen, Karin Lindin and Mathilde Dressler.

The other committee, to arrange for a play to be given in Kingston, is composed of Warren Hutty, Gaston Bell and Jack Feeley.

The report on the recent production showed that it was a dramatic success, much enjoyed by its audience. The play was decided worthy of adding to the organization's repertoire and will be kept in rehearsal fro mtime to time to keep it in readiness for production.

No very definite plans were made for the future but it seems certain that plays will be offered in March and April, one of which will no doubt be sponsored by the organization itself.

Immediate plans include arrangements with several organizations. More definite plans will be announced later.

Several other matters were discussed, among them the suggestion that some sort of social gathering be held from time to time so that the entire membership, active and associate, might have an opportunity to become better acquainted. This plan was greeted with the enthusiasm of the attendance.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 13—Miss Denise Lynch returned home Tuesday after spending a week in New York city.

John and Robert Adsit have resumed their studies at Kingston High School and Ashokan school, respectively. The boys caught measles and were confined to the house for several days.

About six inches of snow fell here Sunday. There was no drifting until Tuesday afternoon when a strong northwest wind began to move the snow a bit.

Herman Wendt, of Woodside, L. I., spent the week-end with friends in Shokan. Mr. Wendt had car trouble while here and was delayed in returning to his duties in an airplane factory.

Robert B. Peck came up Tuesday from New York to spend a day at the Peck summer home near Tice Ten Eyck mountain.

The Olive town board met Saturday at Henry Carleson's place. The board purchased a new dump truck of Chester Lyons, Ashokan Chevrolet dealer.

Edward Leyder's road still remains blocked by drifts. The road, leading in to the Krekeler place from the state highway, was plowed out following the blizzard but drifted full again on January 23.

Grant Every, well-known Back Brook farmer, has invested in a new Ford truck, purchased of Alonzo Haver, proprietor of the Lakeview Garage.

February 12, 1902, the marriage took place of Burton Tyler, of Wappinger's Falls, to Carrie Traphagen of Shokan. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. C. Sommer, pastor of the West Hurley M. E. Church. The bride was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Traphagen. Mr. and Mrs. Tyler are the parents of Kenneth Tyler of Boiceville and Charles Tyler of Traver Hollow.

Friday afternoon a Valentine party, sponsored by the True Blue Club of the Shokan school, will take place in the schoolhouse. The usual exchange of Valentines by the pupils will be a feature of the party.

Lillian Greenway Monell, who died at her home in Kingston Monday morning, was well known to the older residents of Shokan. Her girlhood years were spent on the Greenway farm, most of which is now included in the reservoir preserve. The family home for many years was the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barringer.

The upper end of the town road leading up to the Denis T. Lynch place was plowed open last week. The tractor was not equal to the job of bucking the huge drifts in the road at the E. C. Bostock farm so a detour was made through the fields. The B. Nadai driveway in the same section also was opened for travel after being closed since the Thursday following the blizzard.

The March meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will take place on the 19th, which is the date of the annual church meeting. A covered dish supper will be served in the church basement upon this occasion.

Travel on the state road and reservoir boulevards has been lighter during the past three weeks than in any similar period for several years.

Burton Castle, well-known war veteran and fish and game protector, was here the latter part of the week. Mr. Castle came up to distribute grain for the pheasants which are having a hard time keeping alive, what with much of their usual winter food being covered up by the deep snow. Few deer have been seen here this season but it is thought that the animals are going through a tough winter. Paul James saw several deer in the Ridge road section last week and these were traveling fast in spite of the snow handicap.

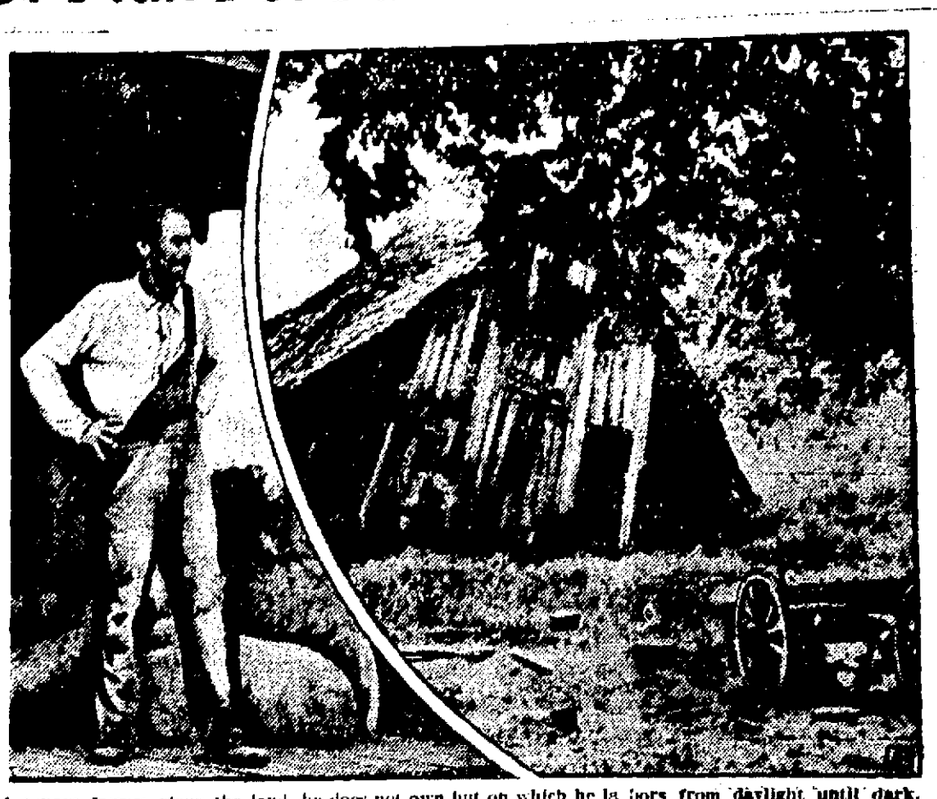

Elmer Bedell, local stove-wood dealer, has been trucking wood from the Samsonville neighborhood.

Postmaster Julia Winchell is recovering from a severe cold.

Jerry Phillips, with his team, is assisting members of the reservoir force in getting out cordwood.

Crop Adjustment Seen As Result Of Plan For Farmer-Owned Farms

A tenant farmer views the land he does not own but on which he labors from daylight until dark. At left is a typically dilapidated tenant farm barn. It is to such farms as this one and to those who work them that congress is expected to turn attention during the present session.

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington (AP)—Congress undoubtedly will come to close grips this session with farm tenancy—a problem which the leveling of the last frontier was supposed to end, but seemingly aggravated.

The Bankhead-Jones measure, designed to set up a vast revolving fund for government loans to get men out of share-cropping and on land of their own, passed the senate last year. Uncle Sam would put up $50,000,000 for a starter and could get as much as $300,000,000 more during the first three years of the plan by the issuance of bonds.

Now that AAA has been invalidated, some administration farm leaders are adding pressure for this measure.

One Influence

Not the least of the influences speeding the rise in tenancy—called by Secretary Wallace "one of the undesirable characteristics of rural America"—has been the steady increase in the specialized production of major crops, government experts say.

Their theory is that men with homes of their own and a definite stake in life would not be compelled to go so heavily into cash crop production, often destructive of soil and thus of the ultimate value of a farm. Thus it is held that something approaching the crop adjustment sought in ill-fated AAA might be reached, in a small way, in this new agricultural approach.

"Back-to-Farm" Trend

The number of men who own their farms has gone sharply down in the last half century. Where only 25.6 per cent of all farmers were tenants in 1880, the figure in 1935 is put at 42.7 for 40 states (eight not being included) or an increase of almost 100 per cent.

Resettlement administration officials say the percentage trend upward, but not the increase in actual numbers of tenants, was checked in the period from 1930 to this year for the first time in 50 years. The percentage fell by the negligible fraction of one-tenth of one per cent due to the sharp increase in the number of all farms. This presumably was caused by the "back-to-the-farm" movement brought on by the depression.

The significant thing, however, these officials explain, is that the total number of tenants has jumped by about 168,000 since 1930.

Today 2,130,606 farmers are tenants, their patches stretching from the Canadian border to the Rio Grande, against 1,962,641 in 1930. Too, and contrary to general view, tenancy is by no means confined to the old south, but has spread the country over.

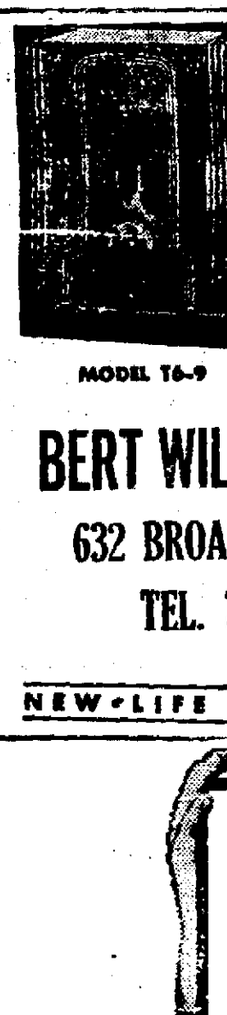

In Iowa, the percentage of tenants now is put at 49.6 and in Nebraska at 49.3. In both states a gain of substantially two per cent in tenancy has occurred since 1930.

BRAID IN DIAGONAL LINES COVERS AFTERNOON DRESS.

London (AP).—An afternoon dress which gives a slimming line to the hips and width to the shoulders is covered with narrow cire braid which is stitched closely together in diagonal lines.

The braid runs slantwise from the shoulders and meets in "V" points up the center front and The skirt design is reversed the lines running down and out the waist to the side seams.

Romano's Orchestra At K. of C. Ball

Phil Romano and his orchestra have been engaged to play for the dancing at the 17th annual charity ball to be held Friday evening, February 21, at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium under the auspices of local council of the Knights of Columbus.

The music committee, headed by Andrew T. Gilday, chairman, has been in contact with several leading orchestras now playing in New York, and it is with a great deal of satisfaction that final negotiations have been made to bring Phil Romano and his band here to Kingston to play at the coming charity ball. This band has been heard over WGY while they were playing an extended engagement at the De Witt Clinton Hotel in Albany during the past year and their music has made a decided hit with the people of this locality. Romano's orchestra has also just finished an engagement at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York, and is now playing at Roseland, the world's largest ballroom, in New York.

Besides Phil Romano and his orchestra, the music committee has engaged John Erne and his Imperial Broadcasters, one of the leading local orchestras, to alternate in providing continuous music for the general assembly dancing that will follow a program of entertainment consisting of six or more headline acts from the various playhouses of New York.

The music committee feels quite proud of its achievement in bringing two outstanding orchestras to play at the coming charity ball, and it is expected that the patrons of the ball will be more than satisfied with the music on that evening. While there has been an added expense in bringing Romano's band to the coming ball, the general committee has cut other expenses so that the usual budget allowed will not be exceeded, and it is hoped that the many patrons of the ball will make a quick response to the tickets already mailed out. The charity fund of the council has been met with many demands during the past season, and the public is expected to attend the ball this year in large numbers, so that a large amount will be realized for charity.

Broadway: "Annie Oakley." Another hit picture bangs its way across the Broadway screen in a revival of the good old days of Buffalo Bill Cody and his wild west troupe. This show posseses warmth, color and humor as it tells the life story of little Annie Oakley, the girl who was champion of her day with a gun, and how she outshoots the champion until she falls in love with him and that changes the pattern of her life completely. Barbara Stanwyck, in the starring assignment, was never more attractive or enjoyable than in the role of dead eye Annie and a fine supporting cast includes Preston Foster, Melvyn Douglas, Pert Kelton and Andy Clyde. Here's a really enjoyable evening of carefully blended fact and fiction. It's alive with thrills, romance and a wholesome realness. Recommended to the entire family.

Kingston: "It's a Great Life" and "Another Face." The first is a timely dramatization of life at a CCC camp wherein two boys become friends and go through all manner of situations before the film's completion. There is a thrilling forest fire sequence and numerous other exciting moments. The plot is one of those eternal triangle things where both friends love the same damsel. The cast offers Joe Morrison, who does some fancy singing, along with Paul Kelly, Chic Sale, Rosalind Keith, William Frawley and David Jack Holt. "Another Face" is melodramatic and entertaining screen fare as it tells of a murderer, hounded by the law, who has a surgeon make over his face and the results are so satisfactory that the former hoodlum becomes a handsome movie star and fools everyone excepting the girl in the story. Brian Donlevy gives a splendid performance as the man with two faces, Wallace Ford is well cast as a go getter press agent, and the rest of the cast includes Erik Rhodes, Phyllis Brooks, Alan Hale, Oscar Apfel, Frank Mills and Molly Lamont.

Orpheum: "Diamond Jim". The spectacular career of Diamond Jim Brady becomes glowing screen enjoyment in this story that harkens back to the gay nineties and tells of Broadway's greatest spender and man about town. This picture is a dramatization of his wild and elaborate life, and Edward Arnold, in the starring role, gives his finest performance as the legendary "Diamond Jim", the man with so many diamonds on his person that he was a walking jewelry establishment. The cast also includes Jean Arthur and Binnie Barnes. A carefully produced Universal Pictures attraction, well worth seeing.

Languorous Dietrich, Grave Gary Cooper Upset Tradition By Being Good In Comedy

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Before Ernst Lubitsch became managing director of Paramount, he was to have directed Marlene Dietrich in a picture. But his elevation to production chief changed this plan, and Frank Borzage was selected to succeed Josef von Sternberg as the Dietrich mentor.

The first Borzage-Dietrich film, "Desire," bears the marks of a Borzage-Dietrich-Lubitsch picture, as though Lubitsch, its producer, could not refrain from injecting his saucy spirit into the celluloid play by Edwin Justus Mayer, Waldemar Young and Samuel Hoffenstein.

At any rate, "Desire" is a departure for Borzage, the master of screen sentiment as exemplified in "Seventh Heaven," "Bad Girl," and other human comedies. "Desire" is comedy that grows sentimental only toward its end, and even then with a suspicion of tongue-in-cheek.

Glamorous Comedy

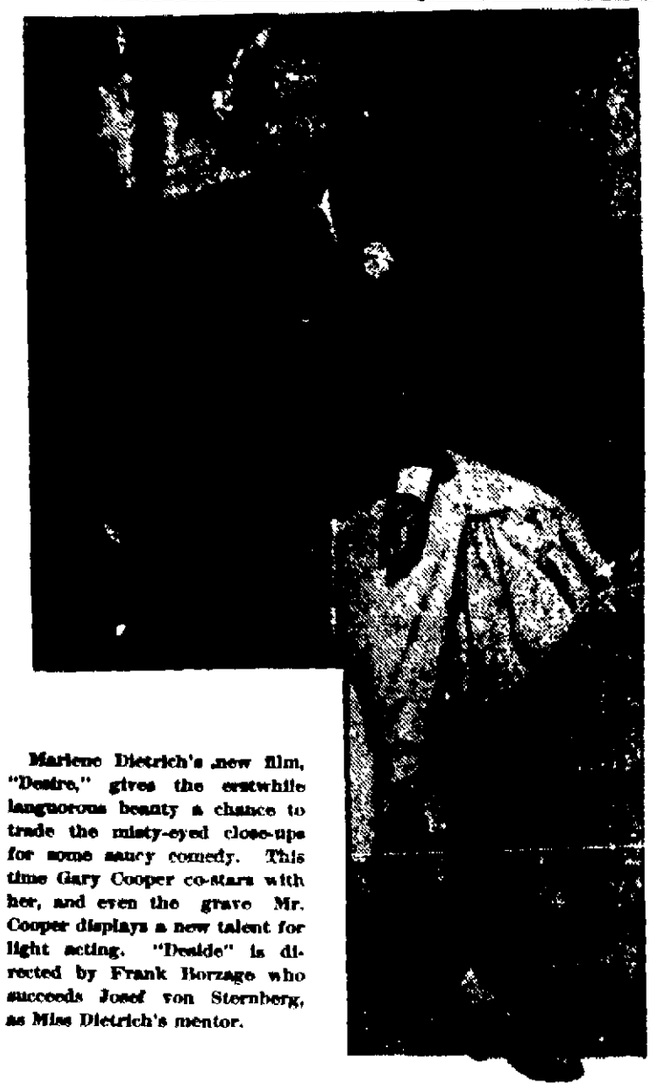

The picture reunites Marlene with Gary Cooper, her leading man of "Morocco." This time Gary is co-starred. Marlene plays a dazzling, clever jewel thief, and Gary is the American from Detroit.

Marlene no longer is the languorous beauty of multiple close-ups, but a glamorous comedienne. Cooper is likable and exhibits a talent, hitherto little suspected, for this sort of comedy. Exceptional support is given by John Halliday, Ernest Cossart, Alan Mowbray, Zeffie Tilbury and Akim Tamiroff.

"The Milky Way" is expected to restore Harold Lloyd to his old position as a front-rank laugh-getter of the films. Based on the stage comedy, the picture offers Lloyd as the milkman who stumbles into groundless fame as a prizefighter.

Same Old Lloyd

It is a typical Harold Lloyd character and, as "gagged" by the screen writers, the play has become a typical Lloyd vehicle of old. Timorous Harold gets into mounting difficulties, and gets out to the tune of hilarity. But others in the cast—notably Adolphe Menjou, Helen Mack, Dorothy Wilson, George Barbier, Lionel Stander, and a scintillant Verree Teasdale — share the honors, with one of the big laughs contributed by Marjorie Gateson. Leo McCarey directed.

Marlene Dietrich's new film, "Desire," gives the erstwhile languorous beauty a chance to trade the misty-eyed close-ups for some saucy comedy. This time Gary Cooper co-stars with her, and even the grave Mr. Cooper displays a new talent for light acting. "Desire" is directed by Frank Borzage who succeeds Josef von Sternberg, as Miss Dietrich's mentor.

Hitler at Olympics

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, Feb 13 (AP)—Chancellor Hitler unexpectedly appeared at the Olympic Ice Stadium today during the second period of the hockey match between England and Hungary. It marked the first time since the opening ceremonies last Thursday that the chancellor had attended the Olympics. Heavy guards along the roads indicated Hitler planned to watch the various events on the day's program.

New Books, Activity At Woodstock Library

Woodstock, Feb. 13.—A year's subscription to "Story Parade", a new children's magazine, has just been presented to the library by Herminie Kleinert. In it are stories for children of all ages by many of their favorite modern authors. A few pages in each issue are reserved for stories or poems contributed by children.

The library has just put into circulation a number of bound volumes of National Geographic articles. These have been bound according to subject, including China, South America, France, Fowl, Crusaders, Horses, Flowers, Cattle, Sea Life. Others are still under construction.

Mrs. Walter Weyl has just presented the library with $25 from her brother, Maurice Weyl, to be used in the purchase of books. This is a particularly welcome and much appreciated gift, as the purchase of books is one of the library's greatest problems.

The library will be closed on Washington's birthday, February 22.

A book committee meeting was held at the home of Miss Alice Wardwell on Tuesday.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Don't call a man a dog . . . . . it isn't fair to the dog.

Man—I hear they're going to tax dogs at their value.
His Wife—If husbands were taxed that way, the government would owe us wives a lot of money.

Did you know anybody who admitted that he was out-of-pocket at the end of the month from playing bridge.

Neighbor — Does your husband help about the house work?
Wife—He does now that I have secured a pretty maid.

Once a radio announcer announced that he was about to make an important announcement, and then he totally made one.

June Bride—This chicken-a-la-king doesn't taste quite right, darling. I'm afraid I left something out of the recipe.
Darling—That terrible taste could never come from something you left out. It must be something you put in.

Actor (to actor friend in hospital awaiting an operation)—Well, I must go now—cherrio—best of luck on your opening night!

A newly married couple had just left their parents and had gone into a home of their own. A few weeks afterwards the husband lost a button off his shirt, and asked his wife to sew one on.
Later, he found that she had not sewn the button on, so he decided he would remind her. He got the lid off the box of shoe polish, punched two holes in the tin, and sewed that on the shirt.
When he came to put the shirt on again he found, to his amazement, that his wife had made a buttonhole big enough to fit the lid.

Junior—Why are a lot of men bald-headed? Is it caused by hats?
Father—Yes, Sonny; by their wives'hats.

Leave It To The Ladies!

"How Can A Church Get Out Of Debt?" asks a headline in the Christian Science Monitor.
That's easy.
Tell the Ladies' Aid Society—and then prepare to attend:
One hundred Church Suppers—
Fifty Church Bazaars—
Twenty-five entertainments (that show why a lot of local talent isn't on the stage regularly)—
And remain at home to make up the balance still due!

Visitor (to little girl)—And was your father covered with insurance when he died?
Little Girl—No'm; just his pajamas.

A good rule for women to follow is to watch other women and profit by their mistakes.

We'll Miss Clarissa.

We have a good cook named Clarissa,
And someone attempted to kiss her;
She refuses to stay
Unless every day
That happens again to Clarissa.

Jamerson—So poor Meekton has gone on a hunger strike! What great cause is he making this supreme sacrifice for?
Halesberg—He wants to force his wife to put away the can opener and bring out the paring knife.

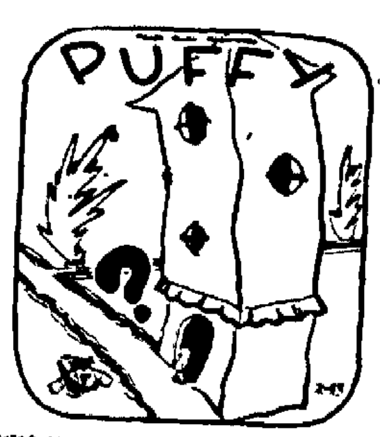

The old question of "what would you do if you had a million dollars?" is no longer unanswerable. The government would get it.

Friend—What made you a multi-millionaire?
Wealthy Man—My wife.
Friend—Ah, her loyal help—
Wealthy Man—No, no. I was simply curious to know if there was any income she couldn't live beyond.

Father says when he gets to congress he will certainly arrange some way to tax those who now escape, without soaking those who can't escape.

HEM AND AMY — THE ACID TEST

By Frank H. Beck

Southwest Uses Plows And Planes In War On Recurrent Dust Storms

Albuquerque, N. M., (AP)—The "dust bowl" of the southwest is carrying on a widespread offensive against the dirt blizzards that threaten to reappear with spring winds.

Major weapons being used include earthwork dams in canyons and arroyos; crooked furrows to hold back the washes in plowed fields; grass to tie down the earth with its roots; and an airplane with its camera eye to spot the source of trouble.

Here in New Mexico a great aerial survey is being made. Pilot Fritz Secor (who gained 18 pounds as he swept the skies around 20,000-foot altitudes breathing through an oxygen tube) has made photographs that together would form a mosaic of an area of about 25,000 miles—equal to the combined areas of Delaware, Connecticut, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

These pictures were taken for engineers, who, with a modern version of grandmother's stereoscope, can read the story of centuries of wind-and-wash erosion on cliffs, gullies and dunes.

Thus they know where to put check dams and diversion dams in rain-washed canyons; plant grasses and other vegetation on denuded slopes. The engineers here have some 38,000,000 acres in photograph. Each picture covers about 12,500 acres.

Nature Helps.

Many farmers are now literally trying to farm their way out of the dust. At Amarillo, Tex., is a control area of the soil conservation service. There are fourteen demonstration projects being established in eroded sections of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado. Through the 86,000-square-mile area these projects cover 375,000 acres.

Nature lent an encouraging hand this winter. Soaking fall rains and winter snows have benefited most portions of the "dust bowl."

H. R. Finnell, regional conservator in charge of the five-state program, predicts this year's dusters will be less dense than those of 1935 which swept over the entire Middle West and, in a few instances, on to the eastern seaboard.

What new farm methods, supervised by the U. S. Soil Conservation service, are doing to rehabilitate lands covered by sand during the dust storms of the last two years is illustrated by these pictures. Above is a field of sand hummocks near Dalhart, Texas, in November, 1934, and below the same field a year later, sown in milo maize as protection against wind erosion.

Preliminary surveys showed 1,200,00 acres have been destroyed by erosion; 6,800,000 acres severely damaged, and 13,000,00 acres moderately damaged in Texas alone.

Farmers Cooperate.

The federal government has more than 2,000 employes working directly on dust control in the southwest, including WPA workers and CCC recruits. There are 128 supervisors and technicians and 43 in the regional staff at Amarillo.

Farmers, determined to make the land blossom again, are giving co-operation. Millions of acres of soil have been anchored by cover crops. Grasses are guarded against over-grazing. The "straight furrer" is no longer the plowman's pride—they are curved, and sometimes the land is terraced to hold back rains and snows. This practice usually means 10 per cent more labor, time and gasoline, but also about 30 per cent more production, says the soil conservation service.

Cites Revolution In Silage-Making

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 13—What is termed a "revolution in silage-making," was described to Farm and Home Week visitors at Cornell today by Dr. J. K. Wilson of the agronomy department.

Recent developments, he said; in the making of high-protein silage will reduce the dairymen's need of buying concentrated feed. The process by which certain acids are added to crops now unsuited to silage was said to be a simple one. Perfect high-protein silage is the result, he said.

Dr. Wilson explained that silage-making depends on the production of acids which act as preservatives. With corn, a crop high in carbohydrates, these acids are produced by fermentation. Such other crops as alfalfa, red clover, soy beans, and other legumes are high in protein but low in carbohydrates from which acids are produced. Because of this, they make unsatisfactory silage, because it putrefies and stock refuse to eat it.

"These protein crops can be made into perfect high-protein silage by the simple process of adding certain acids or the carbohydrate materials from which acids are produced. Acids used successfully are sulphuric, hydrochloric, acetic, and phosphoric.

"Of these, hydrochloric is at present the most practical, although phosphoric may prove valuable in the future if it can be obtained at a reasonable price. The advantage of this acid is that the phosphorus added to the silage increases its feeding value and at the same time adds to the fertilizing value of the manure produced after the silage is eaten. The outstanding need of New York soils is phosphorus. Its use in the silage tends to help it do triple duty: to preserve the silage, to feed the stock, and to fertilize the soil.

Molasses Valuable.

The alternative to the use of acids is some rich carbohydrate material which will produce acid during fermentation. Molasses has proved valuable, and a considerable amount of silage has already been made in this way on many New York farms. Corn sugar, and wet and dry brewer's grains are other suitable materials. The possibilities of whey and separated milk, also, should not be overlooked."

Dr. Wilson suggested that the ultimate development of high-protein silage may be the growing of special crops, high in carbohydrates, which may be mixed with the high-protein crop in the correct proportion when the silo is being filled.

"It is not too much to hope that the work now in progress will lead to the production of high-protein silage for winter use, similar in feeding value to the high-protein herbage produced from improved pastures at Cornell University for summer feeding."

LEAP YEAR PROPOSALS WIN PRAISE OF JUDGE.

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—If Municipal Judge Luther Z. Rosser had his way, every year would be leap year as far as marriage proposals are concerned.

"Let women propose leap year and all other years," the judge says. He thinks there would be fewer divorces.

"Women know what they want and are more inclined to try to justify their judgment by sticking to whatever bargain they make," he asserted.

GALLANT IS THE WORD FOR BRITISH OFFICERS.

Portsmouth, England (AP)—British naval officers are gallant men. Their explanation of the increase of non-smokers in their ranks is offered as proof.

Because of the spread of the smoking habit among English women, they are determined to set the fair sex an example by not smoking themselves.

CITY OF KINGSTON, NEW YORK
NOTICE OF SALE

$170,000 General Bonds of 1936, Series A
$130,000 General Bonds of 1936, Series B

The City Treasurer of the City of Kingston, in the County of Ulster, New York, will receive bids at his office in the City Hall, Kingston, New York, February 27, 1936, at two o'clock, P. M. Eastern Standard Time for the following bonds of the City:

$170,000 General Bonds of 1936, Series A, dated March 1, 1936, maturing $10,000 on March 1 in each of the years 1937 to 1939, both inclusive, $15,000 on March 1 in each of the years 1940 and 1941, $20,000 on March 1 in each of the years 1942 to 1944, both inclusive, and $25,000 on March 1 in each of the years 1945 and 1946; denomination $1,000; coupon in form, registerable as to both principal and interest; purpose, to provide funds to pay the cost of work relief and home relief in the City.

$130,000 General Bonds of 1936, Series B, dated March 1, 1936, maturing $10,000 on March 1, 1938, and $15,000 on March 1 in each of the years 1939 to 1946, both inclusive; denomination $1,000; coupon in form, registerable as to both principal and interest; purpose, to provide funds to pay the cost of material, supplies and equipment for public improvement work relief projects in the City.

Principal and semi-annual interest, March 1 and September 1, payable in lawful money of the United States of America, at the office of the City Treasurer, in the City Hall, in the City of Kingston, New York.

Bidders must state in their bids a single rate of interest which all of the bonds are to bear, expressed in a multiple of one-quarter or one-tenth of one per centum, but not exceeding five per centum (5%) per annum, and must state the price offered. Unless all bids are rejected, all the bonds will be awarded upon the bid most advantageous to the City, to be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid for said bonds from the total amount of interest which the City will have to pay on said bonds under the terms of the bid.

No bid will be accepted for separate maturities or at less than the par value of the bonds, or unless accompanied by a certified check or bank draft upon an incorporated bank or trust company, payable to the order of the City of Kingston, New York, for $6,000, being two per centum of the amount of the bonds. No interest will be allowed upon such check or draft. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned promptly. The check of the successful bidder will be retained to be applied in part payment for the bonds or to secure the City against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid.

The City operates under the City Charter constituting Chapter 747 of the Laws of 1896. The proposed General Bonds of 1936, Series A, are authorized by Chapter 798 of the Laws of 1933 as amended; the proposed General Bonds of 1936, Series B, are authorized by Chapter 782 of the Laws of 1933, as amended.

All proposals together with check or draft must be enclosed in a sealed envelope endorsed "Proposal for Bonds" and directed to C. Ray Everett, City Treasurer, City Hall, Kingston, N. Y.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

The bonds will be valid and legally binding obligations of the City, and the City will have power and will be obligated to levy ad valorem taxes upon all the taxable property within the City for the payment of the bonds and interest thereon, without limitation of rate or amount. The opinion of Messrs. Hawkins, Delafield and Longfellow, of New York City, to this effect will be furnished to the successful bidder.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

COUNTY COURT: COUNTY OF ULSTER—NELLIE G. ABERNETHY, Plaintiff, against HARRIS BROWN, LENORE BROWN, LOUISE G. SNYDER, LEROY MARKLE, R. WILSON NORWOOD, KINGSTON TRUST COMPANY, RUSSELL B. THOMAS and R. WILSON NORWOOD, INC., Defendants.

NOTICE OF SALE

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale duly granted in the above entitled action on the 5th day of February, 1936, and entered in the Office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster, I, DORR E. MONROE, the undersigned Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the Ulster County Court House, in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, on the 28th day of February, 1936; at 12:00 o'clock noon, the following named premises, described in said judgment:

ALL THAT TRACT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate, lying and being in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows:—

BEGINNING at a point fifty feet easterly from the intersection of the northerly side of Broadway and Downs Street, and running thence westerly along Broadway twenty five feet; thence running northerly and nearly parallel with Downs Street about one hundred twenty-six feet and five and one half inches to a point twenty four and five and one-half inches easterly from Downs Street; thence running easterly twenty four feet five and one-half inches, thence running southerly one hundred twenty-one feet and four inches to the point or place of beginning; The above described premises being the lower or easterly half of the premises conveyed by Joseph M. Fowler, Referee, to Robert K. Hutton by deed dated July Fifth, 1904, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on the 2nd day of August, 1904.

EXCEPTING AND RESERVING therefrom to the party of the first part, her heirs and assigns forever, a right of way for ingress, egress and regress to and from the premises of the party of the first part lying, being and situate to the east of the premises hereinbefore described, for the use of the party of the first part, her servants, employees, tenants, heirs or assigns, and any and all other person or persons whomsoever, with the right at all times to pass and re-pass on foot and with animals or vehicles, which said right of way shall be located and described as follows, to-wit:

BEGINNING at the northwesterly corner of the premises herein provided to be conveyed, which said point is one hundred and twenty six feet northerly from Broadway, and twenty four feet five and one-half inches easterly from Downs Street, and running easterly along the rear of the premises hereinbefore provided to be sold, twenty-four feet five and one-half inches to the northeast corner of the lands herein provided to be conveyed; thence running southerly along the easterly bounds of the premises hereinbefore provided to be sold, a distance of ten feet to a point; thence running westerly parallel with the first mentioned course a distance of twenty-four feet, five and one half inches, more or less, to the westerly bounds of the premises herein provided to be conveyed; thence running northerly along the westerly bounds of the premises herein provided to be conveyed; a distance of ten feet to the point or place of beginning.

ALSO excepting and reserving to the party of the first part, her heirs and assigns, the right to lay and forever maintain a trunk sewer under and along the right of way hereinbefore described, together with the right to enter in and upon the said right of way to repair and relay the same.

ALSO excepting and reserving to the party of the first part hereto and her heirs, for the period of eighteen months from the date hereof, the right to use the sewer and sewer pipes now existing and situate upon and across the premises herein provided to be conveyed, for the purpose of conducting sewage and refuse from the premises owned by the party of the first part, and situate, lying and being to the east of the premises herein provided to be conveyed, together with the right to enter in, on and upon the premises herein provided to be conveyed for the purpose of opening or repairing said sewer pipes in event it shall be necessary to do so.

PROVIDED, however, that the party of the first part, her heirs or assigns, shall not in any event be held liable or responsible for any damages which may accrue to the party of the second part by reason of any stoppage or obstruction of said sewer pipes, or in connection with the repair or opening thereof.

The party of the first part further conveys to the party of the second part, the right to the use of a right of way described in a deed from Robert K. Hutton and wife to George Hutton, bearing date August 23rd, 1909, in Liber 421 of Deeds at page 234.

It is understood and agreed, however, that the said right of way so granted by Robert K. Hutton to the said George Hutton, shall not be used by the party of the second part hereto, or his heirs and assigns, to the exclusion of the party of the first part, her heirs and assigns.

And it is distinctly understood and agreed that all of the rights of the party of the first part hereto, her heirs or assigns, in and to the said last mentioned right of way shall continue and accrue to the benefit of the party of the first part, her heirs and assigns, or any of her tenants who may occupy or be in possession of the premises situate, lying and being to the east of the premises herein provided to be conveyed.

The foregoing premises are sold and conveyed by the party of the first part, and the party of the second part covenants and agrees to purchase the same subject to all the terms and conditions of a certain party wall agreement made and entered into by and between George Hutton and Robert K. Hutton, bearing date the 20th day of April, 1912, and duly recorded in the Office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster on the 3rd day of May, 1912, in Liber 427, at page 190.

Dated, February 5, 1936.

THIS MARIAN MARTIN GIRLS' FROCK SERVES FOR SCHOOL OR PARTIES

PATTERN 9674.

Little girls are big girls before you know it, and always in need of school and party frocks of youthful cut. Pattern 9674 is such a frock, styled for the size "Sweet Sixteen" right down to active six-year olds, and an easy pattern for either grown-ups or juniors to make. Wouldn't it make an adorable "party" frock fashioned of printed cotton crepe with shiny crystal buttons? Or practical and wearable for school and junior sports events, in a novelty printed or striped cotton? There'll be unhampered freedom in a generously cut yoke-and-sleeve, and in the gently flaring skirt width—two very important points to be considered when one's young and action-loving. Complete, Diagrammed Marion Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9674 may be ordered only in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16. Size 12 requires 2½ yards 36 inch fabric and 1¼ yard contrasting.

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

Send for our new spring pattern book, and take the guesswork out of planning and making your new clothes! Its many smart, practical designs will show you new ways to look your charming best, new ways to use the latest spring fabrics, new ways to stretch your budget. Special flattering designs for stout figures. Patterns for the whole family. Price of book fifteen cents. Book and pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Send your order to Kingston Daily Freeman Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th street, New York, N. Y.

Knit This For Spring and Summer

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

It's a Jiffy Knit That Goes Very Fast

PATTERN 5535

Want a blouse for day after tomorrow—or next week-end? Industrious fingers can finish this Jiffy-knit in two days' time, for its simple lacy stitch is easy, contrasting with stripes of just plain knitting. Shetland floss makes a comfy-weight blouse, and the two identical pieces need only side seams joined. Make a two-piecer by making the matching plain skirt.

In pattern 5535 you will find complete instructions for making the blouse and shirt shown in sizes 16-18 and 38-40; an illustration of them and of all the stitches needed, material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Latest fashion reports are practically unanimous in their predictions of a great suit season for spring, and these reports appear to be fully in accord with the feverish activity seen among the suit houses.

The new suit styles include numerous versions in two-piece and ensemble themes. Many are mannishly tailored. Some are sporty and swagger in both topcoat and cape effects, while dressier types for town wear subscribe to more luxurious fashioning with lovely fur trimmings in tinted colors that harmonize smartly with the fabric.

In suits of the latter type, attractive combinations are shown such as platinum fox on a suit of aqua blue woolen or pearl gray fox on gray woolen.

The three-piece model pictured above uses an aqua blue imported woolen in shadow box weave for its wrist-length box coat and plainly tailored skirt while the accompanying blouse of silk crepe is in matching shade.

The short and swagger box jacket is luxuriously trimmed in platinum fox, making the collar and forming its unusual pockets. The jacket sleeves show fulness above the wrist—a new and interesting style note.

WIN PRAISE AS A WRITER

TRAIN YOURSELF TO USE WORDS WELL

Marjorie is mighty proud of getting her story into a popular magazine—and Mat and Larry are mighty proud of Marjorie!

She's been scribbling away for weeks, cooking up plots, trying for more vivid descriptions, working away to make her vocabulary larger and more useful.

"I've learned a lot about words from Victor Hugo," Marjorie explains. "Just listen to this bit about the winds, from his Toilers of the Sea: 'The winds rush, fly, swoop down, dwindle away, commence again; hover above, whistle, roar, and smile; they are frenzied, wanton, unbridled, or sinking at ease among the raging waves.'

"Now that's what I mean by a command of language!"

Marjorie doesn't know whether she'll ever equal classic writers. But she is getting a great kick out of the writing game—and a new feeling of assurance and security from the checks that come in.

She was always rather shy, repressed. Now that she puts those unspoken thoughts of hers on paper, it seems to give her an inner relief. She's less nervous.

You will find the same satisfaction from writing, too. All around you is the panorama of life—Nancy has a new baby; young Tom has to quit high school to help support his family; old Mrs. Cole takes an airplane ride. Jiminy loses his dog and finds it again, silly little Rosine elopes with her music teacher; and these are all subjects for stories.

What you feel about these happenings, what the people feel to whom they happened—that's not something you have to take lessons to learn. But you may need to learn, by practise, how to put the emotion, the scene, the character, into words. Guidance from an experienced writer is always a help.

You will find practical advice on enlarging your vocabulary, on rhythm, style, plot, tone, dialog, in our 40-page Home Institute booklet, Self-Instruction in Writing.

No vague theories, but definite help and warning of mistakes—a real standby for the beginner.

Spuds as Valuable As Citrus Fruits

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 13—The public is constantly reminded how strong in vitamin C are citrus fruits and tomato juice, but few persons are aware that potatoes are just as rich in this vitamin as tomato juice.

This statement was made to a Farm and Home Week audience here today by Professor D. K. Tressler of the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva who discussed the food value of many common vegetables.

"Peppers, horseradish, parsley, turnip greens, and spinach are more powerful sources of this vitamin than is orange juice. Cabbage, cress, peas, parsnips, and turnips have about the same amount of this vitamin as does orange juice."

The speaker pointed out that "contrary to the general belief, the cooking of vegetables in an open kettle does not destroy a large portion of vitamin C. Little or no loss has been found."

The Farm and Home Week audience was informed that refrigeration retards a loss of this vitamin that would take place if vegetables were held at ordinary temperatures after harvesting.

In reporting on a study by the experiment station of vitamin C in vegetables, Dr Tressler pointed out that methods used to estimate the strength of the vitamin have changed.

"It used to take thirty days with guinea pigs; now, less than an hour is needed. Both tests are being used at the station, one as a check on the other.

Professor Tugwell has a resettlement plan, but the real resettlement is going to come when the taxpayers have to put up the money for it.

Working Students "Better."

Chicago (AP)—Don't feel sorry for the poor college boy who has to work his way through school. At the University of Chicago it has been discovered that he's a better student than the one who gets a monthly check from dad, say Robert Woltner of the Board of vocational guidance and placement, and John Stalnaker of the board of examiners.

MY, HELEN! THIS NEW NUCOA IS A MARVELOUS SPREAD FOR BREADS!

I KNOW—AND IT SAVES US SO MUCH MONEY!

AND HOW PERFECT NEW NUCOA is for all your cooking, too!

"Really," says Ida Bailey Allen, "I've never seen any product so wonderful as this utterly new-type vegetable margarine! You must try it!"

By Ida Bailey Allen

"I KNOW you'll be absolutely thrilled with the New Nucoa! Try it first on hot toast! See what a delicious spread for breads it is!

"Then remember that it actually saves you 10¢ to 15¢ over the most commonly used spread for breads!

"Use it then in your kitchen. See how marvelous it is for baking cakes, flaky biscuits and pie crust. Perfectly delicious, too, for seasoning vegetables . . . and for making sauces, gravies, candies and for frying.

"And this amazing new vegetable margarine is rich in food-energy content. Made only of fine vegetable oil, fresh, pasteurized milk and salt, it furnishes 3300 calories per pound. Fine for growing children. Get a pound today!"

SAUGERTIES

Saugerties, Feb. 13—Town Tax Collector Eugene Thornton has moved from the town building and will receive taxes at his insurance agency office on Partition street until further notice.

Katherine, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wiands, of Livingston street, has been taken to the Kingston Hospital where she will be under observation and treatment for ear infection. Dr. Lester Sonking is her physician.

A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vedder, of Manorville, with Dr. Lester Sonking the attending physician.

A birthday surprise party was tendered to William Lavelle on Monday evening in honor of his 18th birthday. The evening was spent with games, dancing and entertainment by the Sickles entertainers which was followed by refreshments. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson, Mrs. Edward King, Mrs. Bessie Wiand, Mrs. Frank Keenan, Mrs. Valentine Wiesner, Mrs. Samuel Coons, Mrs. Edward Simmons, Mrs. David Valk, Mrs. Herbert North, Mrs. Roy Abeel, Mrs. John Dixon, Mrs. Roy Gillepsy, Mrs. Florence Farrell, Mrs. Mary Lavelle, Miss Marion Gilmore, Miss Hazel Burns, Miss Harriet Stalters, Miss Betty Brandow, Miss Frances Murphy, Miss Alberta Freese, Miss Virginia Maines, Miss Ruth Mauterstock, Miss Robena Lavelle, Miss Louise Lavelle, Miss Isabel Lang, Richard Maines, Raymond Helfrich, Jack Keenan, John Burns, Jr., Francis Buhl, Ernest Benjamin, Jack Lavelle, Luther Lavelle, William Lavelle, Thomas Petramale, Louis Illo.

A large number of local roller skate fans attended the party held in Bigelow Hall in Malden-on-Hudson Tuesday evening by the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church.

The regular meeting of the Churchland P.-T. A. was held on Wednesday evening in the school house with James F. Loughran of Kingston the guest speaker who displayed pictures of his western trip. A Founder's Day collection was taken which will be spent for the dishes to be used at P.-T. A. meetings.

Mrs. William F. Keenan of John street is spending some time with friends in Brooklyn and New York city.

John P. Fellows of the Union Theological Seminary, New York city, spent the last few days with his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis P. Fellows, on Market street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown, who have been the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown on Partition street, have returned to their home in New York city.

Margie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ricketson, of Livingston street, is recovering from bronchial pneumonia with Dr. Sonking attending.

Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Farrell, of Malden, is improving from pneumonia under the care of Dr. B. W. Gifford.

There will be a bus for the Saugerties-Hudson basketball game to be played in that city.

Miss Alice Benton, of Elm street, who has been ill at her home with the grip, is able to be out again.

A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. William E. Van Waters of Main street at the Benedictine Hospital. Dr. B. W. Gifford is attending mother and child.

Plans are complete for the Lions Club ball in the Saugerties High School auditorium on Friday evening, February 21. Hi Henry's Aristocrats of 10 pieces will furnish music and the tickets will be $1, the proceeds to be used for service work of the club. Joseph Keenan will have charge of major activities and all members are looking forward to ensure the success of the affair.

During the past few days several names have been mentioned as possible candidates for the position as postmaster of Saugerties and just who will be appointed is undecided.

Harold Hults of Russell street had the misfortune to break the tip of his big toe on his left foot. Dr. John C. Kamp took an X-ray.

Town Superintendent of Highways Harry K. Myers received a severe sprain to his ankle one day recently. Dr. John C. Kamp attended him.

The card party of the Women's Service League to be held February 20 has been postponed indefinitely.

The first annual dance of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church of Glasco was held on Tuesday evening in Chick's Rendezvous.

Chester Snyder of Centerville, who has been quite ill, is reported to be recovering.

Miss Nellie Myer, teacher of the Churchland school, is recovering from the grip.

Archie Goldman, of Chicago, Ill., and formerly of this village, was a caller here during the last few days.

Mrs. Harry Paradise, of Malden, who has been ill with congestion of the lungs and heart complications, is improving under the care of Dr. Lester Sonking.

Miss Sophia Kranz, who was improving from her recent operation, suffered a relapse on Sunday and is reported to be seriously ill at her home on Partition street. Dr. Sonking is attending her.

Miss Katherine MacFarland, of Cole Place, has been ill at her home the last week with the grip.

The Boys Scouts in the Saugerties area together with public attending had a rally in the High School auditorium on Wednesday evening. There were exhibits shown of the work done and contests were held which were very interesting.

Miss Mary Donnelly, of the commercial department of the Saugerties High School, who has been absent the last three weeks, having undergone an operation in the Samaritan Hospital in Troy, has recovered and resumed her duties at the school. Mrs. Heermance was acting substitute during the absence of Miss Donnelly.

Collector of Taxes Eugene F. Thornton reported that he had received about $135,000 in taxes to February 8. The budget to be collected totals the amount of $201,846.47. Mr. Thornton will receive taxes for the convenience of those who did not pay during the regular period.

Secretary Swanson Ill

Washington, Feb. 13 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Swanson, who suffered a fractured rib in a fall at his home a week ago, has developed pleurisy and H. C. Swanson of Danville, Va., has been summoned to his bedside at Naval Hospital. The condition of the 74-year-old secretary was described as "serious but not immediately alarming." Swanson's age caused some worry.

REPORTED HELD BY ETHIOPIANS

The Rev. Harold Street, American missionary, and his family were reported held prisoners in southwestern Gamo province, Ethiopia, because they refused to leave what local authorities called the danger zone. Crown Prince Asfa Wosan ordered their release. Their home is at Paxton, Ill. (Associated Press Photo)

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Feb. 13—Recently Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Velie and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Ferguson were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harcourt of Newburgh.

On Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. John Manion, Jr., became the parents of a nine pound son. Dr. W. Barton Harris and Mrs. Hunter DeWitt, R. N., are in charge. Mrs. Manion is the former Grace Lockwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lockwood.

Miss Doris Hines, who is a freshman at the William Smith College, Geneva, has been elected to membership in the College Dramatic Club. She has also been chosen to play the leading role in the college's presentation of "Behind the Beyond." The play will be given in the little theatre of Hobart College in the near future.

At the installation of officers by Guiding Star Lodge of Marlborough Knights of Pythias, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Chancellor commander, James Conn; vice-chancellor, Homer Clack; prelate, Hiram Atkins; master of work, Charles Warren, keeper of records, Fred Baxter; master of finance, Arthur Reynolds; master of exchequer, Alonzo Kniffin; inner guard, Isaac Halweck, Jr.; outside guard, Thomas Greco.

The third and fourth grades in the local school have had 99 per cent attendance during the months of October, November and December. This is the best record in the school in some time. Mrs. Jennie Lowery is the third grade teacher and Miss Catherine Dowd is the fourth grade teacher.

The newly formed Christian Endeavor Society met last week and the following officers were elected: Vice president, Stanley Sutton; corresponding secretary, Mintra Mattice; recording secretary, Ethel Kniffen; treasurer, Richard Norton. Two candidates running for president received the same number of votes and it was decided to put off the election of president until the next meeting.

February 12, a good attendance was had at the Valentine Party sponsored by the Methodist Church. Games were enjoyed and a general good time had by all those attending. The committee consisted of the Rev. R. H. Northup, Miss Nellie Graves and Mrs. Howard Graves.

The Ladies' Aid met last Tuesday in the Methodist Sunday school room and the following ladies were elected officers for the coming year: Mrs. Edward Cosman, president; Mrs. Clara Shelden, first vice president; Mrs. Raymond Schoonmaker, second vice president; Mrs. John Palmer, secretary; Mrs. Howard Graves, treasurer; tea committee, Mrs. Clara Seldon, Mrs. Calvin Staples, Sr., Mrs. Frank Berian and Mrs. Raymond Schoonmaker. Mrs. Luther Fredericks was named press correspondent.

The Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church met on Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Calvin Wygant, Jr., Mrs. Jesse Edwards acted as assiting hostess.

The Marlborough Players will meet on February 17 in the home of Miss Ruth Norton on Birdsall avenue.

Mrs. Thomas Greco is able to be about after being ill at her home.

The Catholic Daughters of America are sponsoring a card party to be held on Tuesday evening, February 25 in St. Mary's Hall. Mrs. Thomas Greco is general chairman.

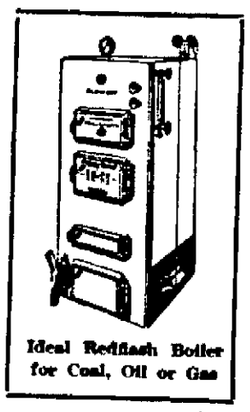

The local school was closed on Wednesday on account of Lincoln's Birthday.

KIDNEYS OUT OF FUNCTION?

A SIMPLE diuretic stimulant like Dr. Pierce's A-nuric is often indicated and usually it is sufficient to relieve minor kidney irregularities. Read this: Mr. Elick Wood of 2 Carlisle Ave., Binghamton, N. Y. said: "Constant working in a stooped position appeared to affect my kidneys. When I came home at night I couldn't sleep. Two bottles of Dr. Pierce's A-nuric Tablets helped me so that I was able to work in comfort and sleep once more. I have not been troubled in that way since."

Your druggist sells A-nuric at 65c & $1.35. Write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice using symptom blank which is enclosed in the package.

A meeting of the committee was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Sisti on Monday evening, February 10.

Stone Ridge

The zero weather and deep snow did not cool the enthusiasm of a small crowd of Grangers who met for the regular meeting on February 3. Dartball was an exciting pastime following the business session.

The program for the next meeting on February 17 will be under the guidance of past lecturer, Rose Osterhoudt. All members should try to be present as a jolly and interesting evening is in store for them.

The service and hospitality committee is busy making some plans for a big event to take place in March. Perhaps the secret will be discussed on Monday night.

OAKES SCHOOL FIRE AT HIGHLAND WEDNESDAY

The interior of the Oakes school was destroyed by fire before 9 o'clock Wednesday morning caused by an overheated furnace. The fire company responded and found the flames burning out the interior of the building. The fire was soon under control, but the damage will amount to at least $7,500.

The building was of brick and while it contained four rooms but two were in use as class rooms with Mrs. Vincent Lyons and Miss Edna Curry as teachers. The pupils were given a holiday and were to report to the main building in Highland on Thursday. The Oakes building was of brick and located at the rear of the West Shore station at the river.

Rifton Ladies' Aid.

Rifton, Feb. 13.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the M E Church held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs Edward Palfe on Wednesday, February 5. The meeting was well attended and after the roll call and the reading of the secretary's and treasurer's reports, plans for the entertainment and social which the aid expects to give very shortly, were discussed. The meeting was brought to a close as quickly as possible in order that the ladies who are taking part in the play could hold a rehearsal after the meeting. The next regular meeting of the Aid will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Davis. All members are urged to be present and any others who would like to join the Aid are also invited to attend. Instead of holding this meeting on the first Wednesday of the month as is the custom, the Aid will meet on the second Wednesday, or March 11.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—Selected buying in utilities and rails kept such shares generally higher in today's stock market, while many others fell below best levels attained during an early and widespread forward movement.

American Telephone by early afternoon was a little under its day's top with a net gain of 1⅝, as was WesternUnion with 1½. Douglas Aircraft after an early loss recovered sharply to about 2 points above the previous close Consolidated Gas was up ¾, North American off ⅛, Columbia Gas up ⅝ and Public Service of N. J. up ½ From fractions to a point better were Santa Fe, New York Central, Great Northern Preferred, and Delaware & Hudson. A 2-point rise was made by Southern Railroad Preferred.

On the upside for a point or less were American Chain, Johns Manville, American Radiator, Anaconda, Kennecott, Standard Oil of California, Packard, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and U. S. Pipe & Foundry, the latter three losing a little from the best.

The dollar was strong in foreign exchanges, cotton was mixed and grains narrowly better. The bond market was steady.

Dr. Kern is located in the property of Miss Edna Dixon, directly opposite the Gardiner General store of Frank Morse.

Senate Passes 5 Crime Acts Today

heavy calendar. This action followed a conference with the governor.

Meantime, the chief executive declined to name the "powerful groups" he referred to, merely smiled at interviewers and asserted that he is prepared to stand on his statement.

Fell Like Bombshell

The governor's action fell like a bombshell in both houses

In the Senate, Senator John J. McNaboe, Democrat, of New York, gave warning that "the threshold of impeachment" had been approached.

On the other side of the Capitol, Republican Assemblyman Horace M. Stone of Syracuse branded the statement as hypocrisy, and advanced the proposal for an investigation of the law enforcing agencies of the state.

As a parting shot, Speaker Ives charged that the chief executive's statement was a "vicious utterance", warranting an apology, and that the document "bordered on and actually represented contempt of the Assembly."

Some Republican assemblymen are reported to be studying legislative rules to determine if the Assembly can bring the chief executive, personally, before the House to prove his charge.

The Republican majority is unanimous that the governor must apologize, and will support the proposed resolution to a man, in the belief of Speaker Ives.

Signs Interlocutory Decree of Divorce

Justice Sydney F. Foster has signed an interlocutory decree of divorce in an action brought by Olga Goldberg against Max Goldberg. Joseph Kooperman appeared for plaintiff at special term at Monticello when testimony was taken. Mrs. Goldberg, who resides at Dairyland, town of Wawarsing, by the decree is permitted to assume her maiden name, Olga Lewit and may re-marry but it will be unlawful for defendant to marry. Custody of the child is also awarded to the mother. The interlocutory decree will become final in three months.

The parties were married in February of 1926 and the act upon which the divorce was sought is alleged to have taken place at Monticello Inn on November 9, 1935, with an unknown party.

Roosevelt Enters Illinois Primaries

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 13 (AP)—Petitions entering President Roosevelt in the April 14 Illinois Democratic presidential preferential primary were filed today at the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes.

The President's signed declaration of his candidacy for a second term was received by mail from Chicago.

The petitions were circulated by National Committeeman Patrick A. Nash, who conferred at Washington this week with Postmaster General Farley. Democratic leaders here said they expected Mr. Roosevelt would be unopposed in the advisory primary.

Two Republican candidates, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, and Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, filed yesterday.

Milne Indictment To Be Asked by the U.S.

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—The case of Caleb Milne, 4th, whose hoax kidnaping last December occasioned a widespread search for him, was presented to the federal grand jury today.

The government indicated an indictment would be asked on the allegation that young Milne, who admitted he engineered the "kidnaping" used the mails in an attempt to defraud.

He sent a letter to his grandfather, Caleb Jones Milne, Jr., of Philadelphia, demanding ransom of $20,000 for his release, but made no effort to collect the money.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Feb. 13.—The Men's Community Club will play dart ball with the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church team, in the Reformed Church hall at 8:30 Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ways and family of Saugerties spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Van Leuven.

A minstrel show will be given in the Reformed Church hall on Thursday evening, February 20. An enjoyable program, including many novelties and specialties has been prepared.

The Senior Christian Endeavor Society will have a sleigh riding party Saturday night. Those going will meet at the home of Miss Evon White at 7 o'clock. The Risky Dusk Club is invited to go along.

Norman Thomas In Court

Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, appeared today before Magistrate Nyiver Sabbatino on a disorderly conduct charge resulting from his leadership of a parade of strike sympathizers in front of a Brooklyn department store. Over Thomas' protest, the case was adjourned to March 23 and he was released on his own recognizance. A strike has been in progress at the store since October.

New Vaudeville Show Tonight at Food, Progress Show

Wednesday was a big day at the Food and Progress display in the Municipal Auditorium, and this evening another capacity house is expected for the new vaudeville show, featuring four acts that Al Skea, booking agent, promises will be just as good, if not better, than the entertainment bill for the first three days of the exhibition.

"We had the largest attendance since the show opened", said Miss Olga Vetoskie, petite assistant secretary of the U. P. A., when a reporter asked her about yesterday's crowd. Miss Vetoskie is in the ticket office and is the first to smile a welcome to patrons.

Tonight there should be a record turnout, think those in charge of the U. P. A. exhibit, because of the publicity given the show through the press and by conversation among those who have attended the event and their friends, all of whom have been urged to attend the big show. And, on account of the change in vaudeville there is expected to be a large number of "repeaters" back to the auditorium.

The stage show tonight will present The Otakis, oriental jugglers, formerly with Barnum & Bailey; Selden & Endler, direct from Radio City Music Hall with their comedy act; Francis Finneran, a real magician with new tricks and funny stories, and Mia Myles & Co., sensational adagio dancers. Vaudeville time is 10 o'clock for nights and 4 for afternoons.

Green, White and Yellow Colors of Mexico's Flag

The colors of the Mexican flag, green, white and red, are symbolical of the aspirations of Mexico at the time it began its life as an independent nation. However, states an authority in the Washington Post, the meaning of the national coat of arms is much more deeply rooted in the history, in the traditions and in the personality of the country. The eagle which perched upon a cactus plant, strangling a serpent, is rich in meaning, rich in symbolism. For centuries on end it has lived in the hearts of the Mexicans, in the hearts of the people who descended from the first settlers of the Valley of Mexico; and, besides being very much alive in cherished traditions, it may have lived in reality; it must have lived in reality.

In the beginning of the Fourteenth century the Aztecs, an Indian tribe, wandered into the rich valley of Mexico from the north, and spread throughout that part of the country. In 1325, having halted on the shore of the principal lake, they beheld, perched upon a cactus plant, a royal eagle of extraordinary size and beauty, with a serpent in its talons and its broad wings opened to the sun. This was considered an excellent omen by the priests and the place was chosen as the site of a great Aztec city. The foundations of this future metropolis were laid at once by sinking piles into the shallows, for the low marshes were half buried in water. Such were the beginnings of the Great Tenochtitlan, capital of a mighty empire whose degree of civilization astounded the conquering Spaniards led by Cortez into Mexico.

During colonial times the nopal and the eagle appeared at various times as decorative motives in the coat of arms of the City of Mexico. When independence was attained in 1821 the tricolored flag was adopted, and an eagle perched upon the nopal (cactus plant) and strangling a serpent, became the national coat of arms.

Smaller the Body, More Rapid the Heart Beats

The heart beats 100 times a minute in a small child and on an average of 72 times a minute in an adult, observes a writer in the Chicago Tribune. Apparently, with some exceptions, the smaller the body the more rapid the pulse. In a mouse, for instance, the heart beats from 500 to 1,000 times a minute, and in a horse only 30 times a minute.

The human heart pumps about 500 gallons of blood a day in an adult. During a normal lifetime it beats about two and a half billion times and moves a total of nearly thirty-five million gallons of blood. It never rests; that is, it never rests completely. The moments between its beats, when it relaxes and fills with the liquid so vital to life, are the periods of least strain. The slower the heart beat, within a healthy range, of course, the less the strain. That is why the heart of the calmly relaxed person or the sleeping person is having a much easier time of it than that of the person who is dashing up a flight of stairs. Plenty of rest and relaxation, therefore, are extremely important in maintaining the heart in an efficient condition.

Switzerland's Vineyards

Vineyards in Switzerland extend over 12,850 hectares (32,050 acres). As there is a great deal of foreign competition in this field, the grape and wine industry has been rather on the decline in recent decades. The principal wine-growing regions are the sunny shores of Lake Geneva and the Rhone valley. The western shores of the lakes of Neuchatel and Biennes, as well as certain districts of eastern Switzerland, are also famous for their vineyards.

Cleaning Parchment Diploma

A parchment diploma may be cleaned if it is not too soiled by rubbing lightly with art gum, which may be purchased from any art dealer. Another method is to use pieces of freshly baked bread with the crust cut off. Put grease spots apply fuller's earth, fresh if into the crust and then brush off.

S-O-C-I-E-T-Y

The Coterie

The next meeting of Coterie will be at the home of Mrs. Samuel Watts on Highland avenue, Mrs. Harry G. Smith being the hostess.

28th Anniversary

Detective Max Bloom, formerly of the New York Police Department, now residing in Rosendale, celebrated with Mrs. Bloom their 28th wedding anniversary at the Clinton Ford Pavilion, Tuesday evening, February 11. Miss Evelyn Gollop of Kingston was their guest.

Twentieth Century Club

This week the Twentieth Century Club met with Miss Sarah Hasbrouck. The topics for study for the next year were chosen and were, "World Affairs of Today," and "State Current Events" Mrs. Boerker gave as her part of the Roll Call from the Albany clip sheets; "Legislative Bills," and Mrs. Taylor presented "Crime Legislation."

Mrs. Van Ingen had the first paper for the day on "West Point," which was very informing and interesting and which closed with the splendid prayer used by the entire student body, and written by a former chaplin at West Point.

The second and equally interesting paper on "Colonial Homes," was given by Mrs. Wood, who particularly spoke of the old "Drovers' Inn" in Poughkeepsie, "The Brooke House" in Coxsackie and "The Schuyler Mansion" in Albany, while telling interestingly of several others. The next meeting of The Twentieth Century Club will be with Mrs. Cranston.

Five Civil War Veterans in Ulster

Of the thousand or more Ulster county men who served the union in the dark days of the Civil War today on the 127th anniversary of Lincoln, the great emancipator, which was fittingly observed throughout the nation on Wednesday, there are but five veterans of the Civil War who are still living in Ulster county.

Of that gallant host who marched away in the days of '61, many fell on some of the most famous battlefields of that bloody war, but a goodly number returned home at the close of the war and re-entered civil life with honor and credit to themselves.

In this city but one veteran of the Civil War is still living. He is William Deitz of 17 Wiltwyck avenue. The other four veterans are John Holliday of Port Ewen; John J. Birmingham of Maple Hill, Augustus Cole of Union Center and James H. Clark of Ellenville.

About The Folks

Dr. Sidney D. Wolff, who has been on a vacation to Miami Beach, Fla., has returned and will be at his office Friday morning.

Mrs. Harry Cordier has returned to her home in Salem, N. Y., after spending a week with her niece, Mrs. John Waterman, of 48 Wiltwyck avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bruck of 16 Hudson street are receiving congratulations over the birth of a 6½ pound daughter, Dolores Annette, Saturday, at the Benedictine Hospital. Mother and daughter are doing nicely under the care of Dr. Crowley.

Evidence Completed

Carthage, N. C., Feb. 13 (AP)—Evidence on which foster relatives of Mrs. Elva Statler Davidson are asking the courts to set aside her will leaving the bulk of her $560,000 estate to her husband, H. Bradley Davidson, Jr., was completed today. Counsel for the objectors rested their suit in superior court here after adding further testimony that the Statler heiress was emotionally upset and in such a state of mind as to be easily susceptible to influence when she made her will, 12 days before her mysterious death last February 27, less than two months after her marriage.

Mary Astor, Nugent Ill

Tahoe City, Calif., Feb. 13 (AP)—Mary Astor, film actress, and Director Elliott Nugent were reported ill today from a mild epidemic which threatened a snowbound (Columbia) motion picture company at Brockway in the high Sierra Nevada. Glen Lowers, a bus driver, who struggled all yesterday afternoon and last night to cover the 15 miles from Brockway to Tahoe City said Nugent was seriously ill. Others in the film company of 150 were "ailing." Dr. J. H. Bernard said they were probably suffering from influenza.

Statement Made by Clothing Workers

The following statement was issued yesterday by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, in regard to the report that the Jacobson cutting room was to be transferred to Troy:

"The question of transferring the Jacobson cutting room to Troy is at present the subject of negotiations between the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America and the Jacobson firm. The union's concern is of course the interests of the membership, but it will do everything possibles to protect them in the process of the firm's recognization. Conferences between the union and the firm on the cutting room question are continuing. The statement was signed by A. D. Greenstein, manager of the joint board of the Capitol District Shirt Workers' Union.

Tulsa Likes Its Crow.

Tulsa, Okla., Feb. 13 (AP).—Fastidious Tulsa diners have developed a taste for roast crow—and it may mean the end for the black robber of the corn rows. Because—believes Dr. T. W. Stallings, a crow-hater—as a table delicacy the field pest will rise to the dignity of a game bird. As a game bird unprotected he will become extinct. Butchers have small boys out scouring the fields for crows at $1.50 a dozen.

50 Are Arrested

Copenhagen, Denmark, Feb. 13 (AP)—The frontier newspaper Heimdal said today 50 members of the German navy, including one officer, were arrested at Flensburg, a city in Schleswig, Prussia, in connection with an espionage plot.

Mannerchor Ball

Rondout Social Mannerchor will hold its 68th anniversary dance at their rooms, Strand and Hasbrouck avenue, Monday evening, February 17. Pardee and Allen will furnish the music.

Wayne C. Taylor Named

Washington, Feb. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt today appointed Wayne C. Taylor of Chicago, assistant secretary of the treasury to succeed L. W. Robert, who will retire Saturday.

Old Norse Mythology

In the Sogne Fjord in Norway—that hundred miles of wild, gloomy gorges—old Norse mythology had its last home. These rugged rocks, towering at times 3,000 feet above the deeps of the fjord, echoed the clamorous war cries of Viking warriors for ages. In the mysterious recesses of its wandering ravines the trolls and gnomes of fell and forest and the worshipers of Odin, Thor and Freya held out longest against the faith of "the White Christ." So mysterious are some of these ravines that the sun does not penetrate for weeks together. Northward stretches the Jostedalbrae, the largest ice field in Europe, covering an area of nearly 600 square miles.

Carrell Prediction.

New York, Feb. 13 (AP).—Dr. Alexis Carrell of the Rockefeller Institute believes that "perhaps twenty years from now," Col. Charles A. Lindbergh may be President of the United States. The Nobel prize winner who, with Col. Lindbergh, recently built a mechanism for studying the human heart, is so quoted in a magazine interview to be published tomorrow by the American Magazine. The interviewer relates that once, at dinner, with several intimate friends, Dr. Carrel heard Lindbergh mentioned as "a man whom everybody trusted, who would make an excellent President." Dr. Carrel remarked: "Not yet—perhaps twenty years from now."

Bird Held Here.

Francis Bird was arrested Wednesday afternoon at Golden Rule Inn, where he was employed as a member of the orchestra. The arrest was made by Jailer Clayton Vredenburgh and Assistant Jailer Arthur Brown on a warrant issued in Schoharie county which charges Bird with failure to support his wife and family. He was brought to the jail and held pending arrival of Schoharie officers.

'Dollar Savings Days' Find Merchants With Wealth of Bargains

Stores participating in "Dollar Savings Days" Friday and Saturday are stocked to the limit for a two-day bargain extravaganza and shoppers should have no difficulty in getting what they want, if they visit these stores.

"Quality merchandise at rock bottom prices is the slogan for the sale, and in anticipation of shopping crowds for the full duration of the bargain offering period the merchants have replenished their stocks to take care of the overflow of fastidious buyers.

However, regardless of the heavy preparation made by the business men, the old story of the early bird and the worm still applies and those who get there first are doubly assured of coming away with just what they wanted at prices that may not be in vogue again for a long time.

Although the weather man sent snow flurries to Kingston today, the forecast for tomorrow is that the temperature will be warmer, meaning more agreeable shopping weather and consequently a crowd in the business districts where stores are participating in the "Dollar Savings Days".

A list of the places follows:

Rowe's Shoe Store, J. C. Penney Co., Flanagans', Rose and Gorman, W. T Grant Co., Sam Bernstein and Co., Up-To-Date Co., Theatre Cut Rate Drug Store, New York Sample Shop, Safford and Scudder, Randall's, Herzog's, Tweedie-McAndrew, A. W. Mollott, Montgomery-Ward, London's, The Wonderly Co., Carl Millinery, Paris Cloak and Suit Co., D. Kantrowitz, Daniel's Shoe Store, Paris Millinery, Vogue Specialty Shop, Gold's Reliable Shop, Sears, Roebuck and Co., Baker's Furniture Co., United Cut Rate Drug Store, Welsberg's.

Sled Meet for Boys And Girls on Sunday

The Woodstock Winter Sports Association announces an added attraction for Sunday afternoon. It is planned to hold a series of sled eliminations, for boys and girls of 15 years of age.

The course will be half a mile long and competitors will be started off in pairs. The champion will receive a suitable prize.

Entrants must be on hand at 1:30, the starting time. There will be no entrance fee.

It is stated that there will be free parking space of 1,000 cars at the Woodstock course and that the road will be properly policed.

MARY PROMISED TO MOVE TO ANOTHER RESIDENCE

Mrs. Mary Moore of 8 Wynkoop Place was given a suspended jail sentence in police court this morning with the understanding she made with Judge Culloton that she and her husband would move to another house on or before March 1. Mrs. Moore had been arrested on complaint of Mrs. Eva Hughes, who resides in the same house, and who charged Mrs. Moore with disorderly conduct. This was not the first time there had been trouble between the two women which undoubtedly caused the court to decide that the best solution of the problem was to have the families reside some distance apart.

Salvation Army Special Meetings

The Salvation Army hall has been trimmed with pine boughs and the floor covered with sawdust, for the mid-winter camp meeting now under way, with good attendance reported. The Army band offers special music each evening and there are selections by a quartet composed of Adele Donnisson, soprano; Enid Fatum, alto; Edward Davis, bass, and C. Fred Fatum, tenor. The meetings, which start at 8 o'clock, are to continue until February 16. Friday night there will be special music by a male quartet. The public is invited to attend these meetings.

Mrs. Schatzel, Son Injured Wednesday When Struck by Car

Mrs. Joseph Schatzel and her two-and-a-half-year-old son escaped serious injury Wednesday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock when they were struck by a car operated by Thomas C. Massey of 189 Seeley avenue, Kearney, N. J. Mrs. Schatzel was treated for injuries at the Kingston Hospital and returned to her home. The child also suffered minor injuries when he was thrown into a snow-bank along the road.

The accident happened near the Lay gas station while Mrs. Schatzel was walking along Albany avenue extension from the corner store to her home on Vincent street, Lincoln Park. Word of the accident was sent to the Kingston police department and the police in turn notified Sheriff Abram Molyneaux as the accident happened outside the city. Deputy Sheriff Clayton Vredenburgh made an investigation assisted by State Trooper Arthur Reilly.

Mrs. Schatzel was walking toward Kingston with her son, Thaddeus, when she claims she heard the car approach from the direction of Saugerties. She told her son to step out of the road and she also stepped to the side, but she alleges the car struck them. At the time she was on her right and a short distance from the street into which she was to turn to go to her home. Following the Massey car, which was occupied by Massey and Miss Elizabeth Ginnie of Valley View Terrace, Gladstone, N. J., was the car of Gordon Craig, who was accompanied by his wife and son. Mr. Craig stopped and picked up the injured people and took them to the Kingston Hospital. At the hospital Mrs. Schatzel was treated for an injury to her leg, a bruised back and hip and an injury to her head. The boy was injured about the head and had a scratch on one eye. Both were taken home after treatment by Mr. Craig.

Apparently the front fender and bumper struck Mrs. Schatzel according to the investigation made by the officials.

Massey reported the matter to the police and also made a report to the sheriff. He reported that as he approached the woman she slipped on ice and fell in front of his car. This she denied and stated that she knew the car was coming and had told her son to get out of the road to his right. No charge was made and no arrests have yet been made.

Louis Ragland Held On Murder Charge in Death of Mrs. Sampson

Louis Ragland, 40, a negro of Steep Rocks, appeared in police court this morning with both hands bound in bandages, and was arraigned before Judge Culloton on a charge of murder in the second degree in causing the death of Mrs. Anna Sampson, a negress, who lived with him at Steep Rocks. Ragland waived examination and was held to await the action of the next grand jury, which meets in March.

The crime with which Ragland is charged occurred on January 28. At that time the police department received a telephone call stating that a man and a woman had been badly burned at the Ragland home. One of the radio cars responded and found the woman critically burned and she was rushed to the Kingston Hospital in the W. N. Conner ambulance, where she died early this month.

Before she died it is said she made a statement as to how her clothing caught fire. She said that she and Ragland had an argument and that he picked up a can of kerosene oil and threw some of the oil on her clothing and then flipped a lighted match at her which ignited the oil and her clothing on fire. Ragland was badly burned about the arms and hands in trying to extinguish the fire.

Ragland, it is alleged by the police later corroborated the story said to have been told by the woman.

At the time the police were called to the house Ragland's story was to the effect that the woman spilled kerosene oil on her clothing while filling a lighted lamp and that her clothing ignited from the lamp. He said he was out in the yard at the time and hearing her cries had ran into the house to her assistance. Since then it is said that he has changed his story which led to him being placed under arrest on a murder charge.

DOG OWNERS SHOULD OBTAIN LICENSES FOR THEIR DOGS

The recent census taken by the police department showed some 1,200 dogs owned in the city. Licenses were due January 1, and dog owners should not delay in obtaining a new license for their dogs as summons will be issued shortly to delinquent dog owners to appear in police court.

Northern Hemisphere Feels Hand of Elements Bringing Destruction

(By The Associated Press)

Continents of the Northern Hemisphere were wracked by the elements today as bitter cold, drifting snow, fire and winds of gale or tornado proportions brought death, destruction and privation.

The United States counted at least 24 dead in fires at Lakewood, N. J., Jackson, Minn., and New York.

In Southern California, tornadoes twisted through four cities, injuring six persons, while floods and fires added to property damage estimated at $100,000.

With Iowa highways blocked by snow and with more forecast, the fuel shortage was so serious Gov. Clyde L. Herring advised mayors of Iowa cities to confiscate coal if necessary to conserve supplies.

Nine workers and a government engineer, marooned aboard a workboat locked by ice floes in the Ohio river 35 miles north of Paducah, Ky., faced possible death from an ice gorge upriver which stored up a tremendous head of water.

Europe was lashed by blizzards and gales. Scores of fishermen were killed and others lost along the Italian coast of the Adriatic.

Bulgaria alone counted 68 dead. Macedonia had 25 known dead.

As far south as Alexandria, Egypt, where a flying boat station was destroyed, high seas worked havoc. Floods swept Smyrna villages. In Great Britain the toll of the past three days stood at 27. Paris faced a food shortage as roads became glazed with ice and only 20 per cent of normal supplies reached markets.

At Least 183 Dead

London, Feb. 13 (AP)—General icy storms sweeping Europe and Asia Minor have killed at least 183 persons in the last three days.

With communications disrupted at many points and, consequently, an even greater toll of deaths feared, the following list was compiled:

Bulgaria, 68 dead;
Macedonia, 25 dead;
Thrace and Anatolia, 12 frozen to death;
Gulf of Salonika, 10 drowned;
Adriatic sea, 18 drowned.

The snowstorm which hit Thrace and Anatolia was the most severe in 25 years.

Three hundred fifty small ships were wrecked at sea and 20 minaret tops, including the famous minaret of Santa Sophia, were blown off at Istanbul.

Snowdrifts were reported 9 feet deep at some points in Thrace.

Many persons were reported missing.

Hudson River Still Locked Fast in Ice

For over three weeks the Hudson river has been locked fast with ice averaging from 18 inches to 3 feet in thickness, and all navigation is at a standstill. So heavy is the ice that no attempt is being made by the Coast Guard ice-breaker Comanche to break a channel through the ice fields.

Ferry service between this city and Rhinecliff has been suspended for several weeks as it is impossible for the ferry to break a channel through the heavy ice.

Since the river has become ice-locked pedestrians are walking across the ice, and there is a path from the ferry house on the Rhinecliff side of the river to the gas house on the shores of the Rondout creek in Ponckhockie.

There is no auto travel across the river as no wooden bridge has been placed to allow the cars to get off the shore onto the ice. At the last meeting of the Board of Public Works the question of placing a river bridge at Kingston Point was discussed.

Snow Followed Close To Zero Weather Here

Kingston was still in the grip of real winter weather today when thermometers at 8 o'clock this morning registered as low as 10 degrees above zero. About 10 o'clock the temperature rose to 18 degrees above zero. About 10 o'clock the temperature rose to 18 degrees above and snow began falling which continued for the rest of the morning and snow was still falling this afternoon as this was written while thermometers stood at 22 degrees above zero.

While the fall of snow was light during the morning it made driving rather slippery and traffic proceeded with caution. Superintendent David Conway said that his snow removal equipment was ready to go if the depth of snow warranted bringing out the plows.

BOY COASTER HAD NARROW ESCAPE IN A COLLISION

Fred Seiler, a young boy of 186 Green street, had a narrow escape about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening while coasting on Lucas avenue when his sled was in collision with an auto driven by Charles VanDeBogart of 210 Foxhall avenue. The boy escaped injury when he rolled off his sled. The police department called attention today to the fact that coasting on the hills in the city was against the law, and was very dangerous owing to heavy auto traffic.

Our Growing Population

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health:

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Stork of 16 Hudson street, a daughter, Dolores Annette, at the Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Kushner of 215 Wall street, a daughter, Joan I., at Benedictine Hospital.

Norman was wrong. It isn't services that make a leisure class, says a businessman. It's products.

AUTO ENGINES KEY TO CHEAP PLANES

Discover Two Standard Motors Good for Flying.

Washington.—Federal aviation experts, struggling for months to develop a model, low-priced plane for mass production, have found the key to their problem in automobile engines, it was learned.

Extensive tests of two standard engines used on popular-priced cars have proved successful and these motors will be recommended for widespread adoption as plane engines, it was learned. Another is being installed in a plane and will arrive in Washington within three weeks.

Already three model planes built for the Commerce department in its search for aircraft to retail below $1,000, have been delivered here. One is the Waterman tailless plane, another a Welch ship, resembling the Waterman in that it is a pusher type, but differing in that it has a tail, and the third a Curtiss-Wright coupe.

Two more, now being put through final tests, will be delivered here soon. A third, an autogiro whose rotor blades can be folded back to convert the ship into an auto, will be completed early in February.

The two undergoing tests are a Hammond, pusher-type, low-winged monoplane, built at Ypsilanti, Mich., and an open cockpit conventional monoplane, powered by an auto engine and constructed by the Arrowplane & Engine corporation, Lincoln, Neb. A third, in use at Marshall, Mo., contains an auto engine which passed all tests before installation in the plane.

Delivery of the autogiro in February will witness the completion of the government's program to design, build and assemble for inspection an imposing array of small foolproof planes which will lend themselves easily to mass production at nominal cost.

Convinced by tests that auto engines provide the solution to production of low-cost planes, federal experts indicated they will urge auto manufacturers to effect some slight changes in their present engines to reduce weight and make them easily adaptable for airplane use.

Weather Made to Order Helps in Disease Cure

San Francisco.—When a change of climate is ordered for the San Franciscan of the future, he will merely call the hospital and buy his climate by the hour.

The San Francisco hospital has equipped three rooms with air conditioning and cleaning machinery that permits creation of almost any desired climatic condition except that to be found on an ocean voyage.

A turn of a switch, a twist of a dial on a machine that looks like a radiator, and the proper air for an asthma sufferer, a patient with sinus trouble, or bronchitis, or even hay fever, is created.

Ordinary air is sucked through two filters, one of spun glass and another of paper, from outside the building.

Compressed freon gas, an odorless artificial compound possessing the cooling qualities of ammonia, flows through thin coils and forces any moisture in the air to condense and drop to the floor of the machine.

Then the clean, thoroughly dry air is dampened to just the humidity content desired and piped to the room of the patient.

Doctors say the device has proved particularly valuable in treating patients with respiratory troubles that have interfered with natural rest.

With proper air conditioning, the patient gets a good night's rest and is able to rebuild lowered resistance.

Huge Radium Deposits Reported Near Guiana

Boston, Mass.—Dr. Otto Voght Von Sickingen, Haverford (Pa.) bacteriologist, has discovered what he believes to be the largest radium deposit in the world along the Corentyn river in South America.

On his arrival here he declined to disclose the exact location of the deposit until terms are agreed upon with the government in whose territory it is centered. The Corentyn river borders Dutch and British Guiana.

Doctor Von Sickingen also said he had discovered a possible cure for infantile paralysis in a drug prepared by boiling the skin of a South American reptile.

She Seeks Ph. D. at 80

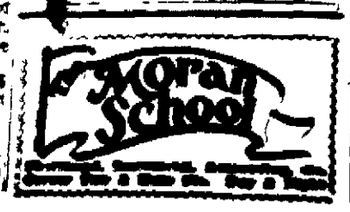

Ashtabula, Ohio.—Mrs. Lillian Gist, eighty years old, who received her master of arts degree last spring, plans to enroll in a Florida college to work for her doctor of philosophy degree. The mother of eight children, she received her first degree 25 years ago.

Paste, Paper Keep Young Pupils Quiet

Cleveland.—A new method to keep school children from talking too much in class was revealed recently in suburban Rocky River.

The method—pasting a strip of paper across the lips of constant "whisperers"—was brought out by Miss Ruth Henry, teacher, to maintain strict decorum in her first grade class at Kensington school.

"It reminds the children they are supposed to keep still," Miss Henry said in defense of the practice. Educators and parents were divided in their opinion of Miss Henry's innovation.

27 Persons Dead, Result of 4 Fires

sion Hotel fire was fixed officially at 15 today as city and county authorities began an inquiry into the holiday multiple tragedy.

While search into the blackened ruins was resumed for the bodies of the eight persons still missing, Ernest Burdge, chief of Ocean county detectives, and local police started to question survivors of the Lincoln Birthday blaze which roused 37 sleeping guests.

Many dove from windows of the three-story 65-room structure, to the street, receiving fractures which in three cases proved fatal. Others perished in the flames.

A score were injured, eight seriously, as they strove to escape the inferno.

Police Chief Walter Curtis said a check of other hotels and private homes convinced him the eight missing died in the fire.

Four children's bodies were found in the smouldering ruins last night. One was identified by the father as Runya Feldman, 5, of Rockaway Beach, N. Y.

Chicago Sewer Tragedy

Chicago, Feb. 13 (AP)—Jack Smith, 27, died in a hospital today, the third victim of an accidental explosion of dynamite in a sanitary district tunnel 500 feet under ground last night. Six other men were still under treatment for injuries.

Allen Green, 23, and Albert Desalles, 27, both negroes, died last night of injuries suffered when the blast rocked a section of the bore near West 38th street and South California avenue, on the southwest side.

J. W. Scott, section foreman in charge of 25 men employed in the tunnel, said today:

"The workmen were fitting steel supports in the section just blasted away.

"They couldn't move around until we did more blasting so I told Greene and Desalles to get ready for another blast. As Greene went to work with his drill he must have hit a 'missed hole' (dynamite not discharged earlier) and the dynamite let go.

"The men up in the head end of the tunnel were buried under the rock and dirt knocked loose, and those of us back farther were knocked down."

Five years ago 11 men lost their lives after a fire broke out underground in another part of the gigantic sewer system.

8 Nuns Injured

Montreal, Feb. 13 (AP)—A fire destroyed the Ste. Cecile wing of Ville Marie Convent early today, and caused injuries to three nuns of the Congregation of Notre Dame. Hundreds of girl students and others of the institution staff escaped safely.

SULLIVAN FARM BUREAU MAY REMAIN IN LIBERTY

The Sullivan County Board of Supervisors, which some time ago demanded removal of the office of the Farm Bureau from Liberty to Monticello, has rescinded its action and also has released an appropriation of $2,500 in favor of the Farm Bureau.

It is said that the action of the board is the result of a promise of the federal government to provide quarters for the Farm Bureau in the new Liberty postoffice.

Offers Prize for High Run

At John Tiano's East Kingston billiard parlor a special inducement is being offered to the player making high run every two weeks. The first two weeks' period started Wednesday night, when Chester Mitchell set a starter of 23.

MENUS OF THE DAY

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Cheese Crust For Pie
(Apples Are Favorite Filling)
Dinner Menu For Four
Shrimp Louisiana
Carrots and Turnips
Bread Currant Jelly
Watermelon Pickles
Celery
Apple Pie With Cheese Crust
Coffee

Shrimp Louisiana

3 tablespoons butter	3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons chopped onion	½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper	1½ cups tomatoes
1 cup shrimps, cooked	2 cups boiled rice

Melt butter and add onion, pepper and shrimps. Cook slowly 5 minutes. Add rest of ingredients and simmer 10 minutes. Pile on shallow platter and garnish with parsley or cress.

Cheese Crust For Pie

2½ cups flour	½ cup cheese, grated
½ teaspoon salt	5 tablespoons cold water
⅔ cup lard

Mix flour and salt. Cut in lard with knife, add cheese and slowly add water. The exact amount cannot always be determined, so add it carefully. When stiff dough forms, break off ⅔ of it and roll out to fit into pie pan, add apples and cover with remaining crust, rolled out. Make 3 holes in top and bake 10 minutes in hot oven. Lower heat and bake 50 minutes in moderately slow oven. Serve warm or cold.

This is a good crust to use for lemon or other fruit pies but not advisable for cream, coconut or prune pies.

Apples

4 cups sliced apples	½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups sugar	1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons flour	2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon cinnamon	4 tablespoons butter

Mix apples with sugar, flour, cinnamon and salt. Pour into unbaked crust, sprinkle with juice and water and dot with butter.

Two of New Police Cars Are Received

At a recent meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners the board authorized the purchase of three new Ford radio cars to replace the present cars now in service. Two of the new cars have been received and the third is expected shortly. The new cars will be placed in commission later in the month.

Soon to be Released

Guadalajara, Mexico, Feb. 13 (AP)—Samuel C. Faneuf, American mining executive held captive four days by a band of northern Jalisco kidnapers, will be released soon on payment of ransom, authorities said today, barring some unforeseen development. Paul W. Avery, who was kidnaped with Faneuf at Etzatlan Monday, but freed with instructions to obtain the ransom money, left Guadalajara to contact the kidnap band. The amount of the ransom to be paid was not disclosed.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during the illness and death of our dear father. Also to those who sent flowers, loaned their cars and helped in any way. Also to the Rev. Fear for his kind and comforting words.

Mrs. Maud Merwin,
Mrs. Mildred Jones,
William Sprague.

Missionaries Released.

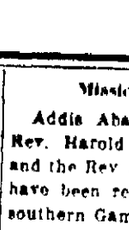

Addis Ababa, Feb. 13 (AP).—The Rev. Harold street of Paxton, Ill., and the Rev. John Trowin of Toronto have been released from custody in southern Gamo province and permitted to renew their missionary work in northern Gamo. The government was informed of these developments today following an investigation into the arrest of the two missionaries last month. Authorities considered southern Gamo unsafe in view of the war and the missionaries were taken from Shama, where their mission was established, to Godu, a safer village.

Kingston Loses to Passaic, 16-25, Passaic, Jersey Reds Tied for Lead

The Cities Service team lost at Passaic, Wednesday night, 25-16, in what was called a slow contest by the officials.

Rabinowitz kept the Reds out in front with his field goals, of which he made five, and four fouls. Seltzer was next highest point-maker of the contest, making three deuces for the home club.

Kingston was held to five fields, Carlie Husta being the only man to score more than once from scrimmage. He found the hoop twice, and made one foul.

From Passaic, the Gasoliners headed south for three exhibition games. When they return home next week, they'll do battle in two American League contests at the Municipal Auditorium, one Monday night, February 17 against Passaic, and the other Wednesday the 19th against the New York Jewels. The proceeds of the Monday game will go to the Elks' Club for its charity fund.

Sioux Five Defeats Tannersville, 32-22

Tuesday evening at Tannersville the Sioux Five of Port Ewen defeated the Tannersville Big Five by a score of 32-22. This victory marks the Indians' ninth victory out of 12 starts so far this season.

Bill Teetsel and Yutch Munson were the biggest factors in bringing victory to the Redskins from the wilds from across the creek. Teetsel slipped the ball through the net for five deuces while Munson made four fields and a foul. Vache and Nandibery led in the scoring for the mountaineers, each making six points.

This evening at their home court the Port Ewen Reformed Church hall, the Sioux will face major opposition when they stack up against the Kendall Oil Five. The Indians were previously shellacked by the Kendalls on the Municipal Auditorium boards on New Year's night. They figure to make a much better showing when they go on the warpath in their own bailiwick. The oilmen will invade the Redskins' domicile with Rhymer and Zeeh in the fore court, Cowboy Every at center and Debrosky and Cullum in the backcourt with Kelly and Kelder in reserve. The Indians will use the same lineup that they used in Tuesday's fray.

Norwegian Wins Speed Skating Title

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, Feb. 13 (AP).—Clipping nearly two seconds off the Olympic record, Charles Mathisen of Norway today won the 1,500 meter speed skating title of the fourth Olympic winter games

Mathisen dashed around the course in two minutes, 19.2 seconds to beat out his countryman, Ivar Ballangrud, winner of the 500 and 5,000 meter crowns, and eclipse Clas Thunberg's Olympic record of 2:21.1.

Birger Vasenius of Finland was third and Leo Freisinger, 19-year-old Chicagoan, fourth.

Ballangrud, who equalled one Olympic record in winning the 500 meters and smashed another in the 5,000 meters event, also was clocked under Thunberg's old standard and so was Vasenius.

Ballangrud's time was 2:20.2 and Vasenius', 2:20.9.

Freisinger, who was third in the 500 meter championship, turned in the highly creditable time of 2:21 3, to earn fourth place.

Eddie Schroeder, veteran Chicagoan, was 12th in 2:24.3 while Bob Peterson of Milwaukee, and Allan Potts of Brooklyn, the other American starters, finished well back. Peterson's time was 2:25.4, Potts', 2:31 2.

NORWEGIAN SKI JUMPER AT SALISBURY MILLS SUNDAY

Salisbury Mills—Erik Bryntesen, high ranking jumper from the heart of Norway, homeland of skiing, will compete with a field of 40 Eastern stars in the New York state ski jumping championships on Norsemen Hill here Sunday.

Bryntesen adds a colorful touch to the entry list which includes stars from the Norsemen Ski Club of New York, Norway Ski Club and Bear Mountain Winter Sports Association, the Brattleboro Outing Club of Vermont, the Chisholm Outing Club of Maine and the Boston Ski and Soccer Club

Sig Jorgensen, John Erikson, Carl Holmstrom, Hans Strand, Kenneth Kempe, Oscar Berntsen, Olav Aasen, Elias Svenningsen, Trygve Langemyhr, Rene Gogan and Merrill Barber, 17 year old hero of the last Norsemen meet, will leap for the state title and to break the 181 foot course record.

Threadgill Breaks Indoor Jump Record

Philadelphia, Feb. 13 (AP)—Although Al Threadgill's campaign for a new world's high jump mark is still short of its goal, the lanky Temple University ace took partial satisfaction today from the knowledge that he had boosted the Junior National A. A. U. indoor record to better than six and a half feet.

Threadgill, who wants to do 6 feet 9 before he's through, smashed the previous junior indoor mark by almost three inches last night, as he and five other athletes set up new records in the annual competition.

His performance of 6 feet 6⅛ inches took precedence as the outstanding showing of the meet, but pushing him hard for the honors were the other record-crackers—Ed. Siegel, New York flash, with a 5.9 second dash in the 50-meter sprint; Walt Nachoney of Temple with a 9 minutes, 34 seconds run in the 3,000-meter steeplechase; Bob Schueneman, Penn's rangy football end, with a 21-foot, 4¾-inch leap in the broad jump; Joe Robinson, of the Newark A. C. with a 7.3 timber-topping trip in the 50-meter hurdles, and Larry Cohen, another Temple man, with a 47-foot, 2-inch heave in the 16-pound shot.

The marks recorded by Siegel and Robinson were new to the record books, as the 50-meter distances in sprint and hurdles have never been on the programs of previous Junior National indoor meets. The other four records eclipsed a quartet set up in past years

There was a fifth previous record bettered—for the 1,500-meter walk—but after Nathan Jaeger of New York had heel-and-toed his way past the finish line in 6:29, the officials ruled it out because of a question as to the legality of his form.

Sealyham Terrier Is King of Dogdom

New York, Feb. 13 (AP).—A blocky, cheerful little Sealyham terrier, looking as if he'd be more at home chewing and shaking an old shoe than lording over the show ring, held the throne of dogdom today as the best of nearly 3,000 canine blue bloods which were entered in the 60th annual Westminster Kennel Club dog show.

The deep chested Sealyham, St Margaret Magnificent of Clairdale, owned by Mr. and Mrs W. O. Penney's Clairdale Kennels of Riverhead, N. Y., dethroned the tall aristocratic poodle, Nunsoe Duc De La Terrace of Blakeen, from Mrs. Sherman C Hoyt's New York kennel, as champion last night at the climax of three days of judging.

The winner, brought from England in the fall of 1935, never has been defeated in an American ring. It was only the second time in the 60 years of the show that a Sealyham has won top honors and the decision wasn't entirely popular with the crowd. The announcement of C. Frederick Neilson's decision drew mingled boos and cheers from a record crowd at Madison Square Garden.

St. Margaret Magnificent didn't have an easy path to the top. Winning the best ward in its breed, the tiny white dog barely won the nod over a Scottish terrier, Flornell Soundfella, a recent import by the Braw Bricht kennels of Jericho, N. Y., in the terrier group.

Then came the stiff competition against the white poodle, which came out of retirement to defend its 1935 honors; the handsome Irish setter, Milson O'Boy, owned by Mrs Cheever Porter of New York, the only American-bred dog in the finals and the favorite of the crowd; the Greyhound White Rose Bovary from the Windholme kennels, Islip, N. Y.; the German shepherd, Dewet Von Der Starrenburg, from Mrs. Hartley Dodge's Giralda farm at Madison, N. J.; and the best toy dog, the Pomeranian Salisbury Sensation, owned by Mrs. Andrew W. Rose of New York.

Helen Stephens Now Headed for Olympics

Helen Stephens

St. Louis, Feb. 13 (AP)—A lady streak of lightning from Missouri, who first brought the name of Helen Stephens into the headlines just a year ago, looked today toward the Olympic games as the final step to the top of the track world.

The Fulton, Mo., farm girl celebrated the first anniversary of her track stardom last night by tying the world record of 6.4 seconds in the 50-meter run of the National A. A. U. women's indoor track and field meet and setting a new American mark in the 8-pound shot put.

In hogging the limelight the 18-year-old "Fulton Flash"—now a freshman in Williams Woods College—also improved her winning last year's winning mark in the standing broad jump, making complete her defense of the three national laurels she won in her debut.

The tall, sober-faced girl was deprived last night of another opportunity of meeting Stella Walsh, Polish star whom she beat in the 50-meter event last year and who shares the world record that she equaled. But they probably will resume their rivalry in the Olympics next summer.

Miss Stephens tossed the shot 41 feet 7 inches, bettering the previous American woman's record of 40 feet 11 inches and stood and broad jumped 8 feet 4½ inches.

Maranville Will Manage Elmira Club

Rochester, N. Y., Feb 13 (AP).—Walter J. (Rabbit) Maranville, veteran of 24 years of major league baseball, gleefully welcomed today what most ball players consider the beginning of the end—a step-down to the minor leagues.

The Rabbit signed a one-year contract yesterday as manager of the Elmira club of the New York-Pennsylvania League. Instead of disappointment at failure to win a renewal of his Boston National League contract, however, the colorful infielder expressed pleasure at the managerial opportunity.

"I consider it a stepping stone to the majors," Maranville said. "It's a chance for me to prove what I can do as a pilot and should pave the way for my return to the big show as a manager."

Maranville, whose diamond career almost came to an end when he broke a leg in an exhibition game between the Boston Braves and New York Yankees in the spring of 1934, also plans to continue as a player, he disclosed.

Chinese Day at Lowell Club Meeting

At its meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Steinert on Main street, the members of the Lowell Club enjoyed a "Chinese Day" that was unique, interesting and very delightful. The unusual program was arranged by Mrs. Steinert, chairman of the program committee and the full committee.

After being welcomed by Mrs. Steinert in her own charming manner, a program of music was given as follows, with each number greatly enjoyed and appreciated:

Piano solo, "Chinese Serenade," played by Mrs. Chidester. Violin solo, "Chinese Music," played by Mrs. Cubberly, accompanied by Mrs. Chidester. Mrs. Cubberly also brought with her two very old Chinese instruments of the violin type, a violin and guitar, and played on each.

Violin solo, "Chinese Song," played by Mrs. Cubberly, accompanied by Mrs. Chidester.

Reading, "The Chaperonage of Jacob Wang," given by Mrs. Murphy.

Vocal solo, "Fresh, Beautiful Flower," a Chinese air by Duncan, sung by Mrs Nelson with Mrs. Chidester at the piano.

Vocal solo, "Pagoda Bells," by Catherine Manning, sung by Mrs Nelson, with Mrs. Chidester at the piano.

Violin solo, "Fairer than Moonlight," played by Mrs Cubberly accompanied by Mrs. Chidester.

Vocal solo, "Chinese Lullaby" from "East is West," sung by Mrs Nelson, with Mrs. Chidester at the piano.

Then came a remarkable feature of the afternoon's program, a one-act play, entitled, "Holding Court." On a raised platform with a background of Chinese screens draped with a beautiful crepe shawl stood a Chinese chair with a very high back. All was illuminated by an electric light back of the screens. There were two teakwood tables on the platform holding incense burners and at each end of the platform two very tall candles. Perhaps the most unusual articles on the table were two strange-shaped silver pipes which were very, very old.

All of this formed the setting for the court scene over which presided the Empress Dowager (Miss Pettingell) in gorgeous Mandarin coat and wearing a round turban with large pompom atop it. She was an awesome Empress Dowager and was attended by a page in full Chinese costume (Mrs. Murphy). At the very foregrounds of the platform was seen two large pillows. One by one, the members of the club were hailed to Court by the Page. They were accused of various forms of wrong doing and dire punishment of amazing character were meted out to them by the impressive Empress Dowager. Incidentally it should be mentioned that the club members were all in Chinese costume.

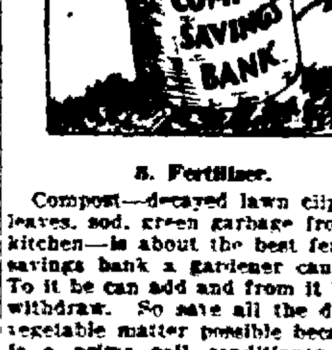

After it was found that there were no more subjects to be punished by the Empress Dowager, refreshments were served, the tea table in the living room being presided over by Mrs. Hale. Coffee was served from the table in the dining room by Mrs Cole and Chinese sandwiches, almond and rice cakes and ginger confections accompanied the serving of tea and coffee.

The club members were most enthusiastic in their praise of Mrs Steinert's elaborate entertainment and of the services of the other members of the program committee in helping her, as they were of their hostess's fine collection of Chinese china, and rare old articles of art.

Next Tuesday the club will meet with Miss Pettingell at her home on Main street.

Farm prices for popcorn in December, 1934, were close to $5 per 100 pounds; the price to farmers for the 1935 crop was $2.16 per 100 pounds.

GOOD GARDENING

5. Fertilizer.

Compost—decayed lawn clippings, leaves, sod, green garbage from the kitchen—is about the best fertilizer savings bank a gardener can have. To it he can add and from it he can withdraw. So save all the decayed vegetable matter possible because it is a prime soil conditioner. The compost should be kept wet. For fertilizer itself, nothing beats manure. Commercial fertilizers are valuable as supplements, sometimes as substitutes.

Tomorrow—The Soil Test.

A Public Hearing on Local Law No. 2 of the year 1936 entitled "A Local Law to Amend Local Law No. 15 of the City of Kingston, permitting delinquent taxpayers to redeem properties sold at tax sale by installment payments", will be held in the Common Council Chambers in the City Hall on Monday, February 24th, 1936 at 12.00 o'clock, noon, at which time an opportunity will be given to all interested persons to express their views.

Second Performance Of "Little Women"

Wednesday evening St. Mary's Hall was filled with a most appreciative audience, gathered there to enjoy the second performance of "Little Women" given by the students of St. Ursula Academy. They, too, were graciously welcomed by Miss Susanne Cross, for the student body and the Sisters of St. Ursula.

Having had the experience of Tuesday's performance, all of the young ladies who took part in the play, were, if possible, even surer of themselves than the day before, and on every hand were heard exclamations of surprise and delight over their finished acting, making every character stand out as Louisa M. Alcott would have liked them to.

One particularly remarkable feature of both performances was the fact that not once were the services of the prompters needed, so "letter perfect" were the young actors. That left them free to put into their acting the creative spirit that made the play so vitally real.

At the close of the performance "Laurie," (Miss Anna Mae Weishaup) stepped to the front of the stage and, on behalf of the Sisters of St. Ursula and the students, very heartily thanked the audience for their financial support and kindly reception of their performance, as well as all others who had in any manner assisted them.

It is expected that a goodly sum will be realized for the Scholarship Fund for the St. Ursula Academy of Kingston.

KERHONKSON.

Kerhonkson, Feb. 13. — David Murphy suffered a stroke on Tuesday morning and is in a very serious condition at the present time.

Mrs. Marion Fluickger was entertained at dinner on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Addis.

Mrs. Katie Schoonmaker, who has been ill for a week is gaining slowly at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dunkel have rented rooms in the Jacob Pettibone homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. Hasbrouck Decker and son Dennis, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Anderson.

Little Jean McCullough, who was ill last week, is able to be out again.

Mrs. A. J. Anderson is teaching school at the high school, Ellenville.

On Friday, February 3, the Kerhonkson High School girls defeated the Marlborough girls by a score of 66-5, with Helen Frear, centerforward doing most of the scoring with over 40 points to her credit.

The high school boys defeated the Marlborough boys by a score of 23-38. This Friday the Kerhonkson girls will play the Ellenville girls. The Kerhonkson girls have only been defeated once in three years and are also holders of two cups, which they won while in the DUSO League. They have also defeated every team in that league this year, and also Monticello, which is supposed to have the best team in this section. Very little is known about Ellenville this year, and Kerhonkson are the favorites for the game. There will also be a boys' game, they are playing the Spencer's Business School five of Kingston. This is also expected to be a good game, and a large crowd is expected from Ellenville, who have so far evaded every chance to give the Kerhonkson boys a game this year.

72 Cents a Day

Wellesley, Mass., Feb. 13 (AP)—It costs only 72 cents a day to feed a college girl. At least, that's the estimate of Miss Ruth Johnston, professor of chemistry at Wellesley College.

Card of Thanks.

The family of the late Lillian M. Greenway, wife of Arthur D. Monell of No. 161 Elmendorf street, wish to thank their neighbors and friends for their acts of kindness during the sickness and after the death of Mrs. Monell, also for floral tributes.

Mrs. Relyea Visits Southern Ulster Club

Highland, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Eugene Relyea made her first visit as county chairman for the State Federation of Women's Clubs to the youngest club, the Women's Club of Southern Ulster county, at the home of Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards on Monday evening. She said her duty was to act as the connecting link between the directors and the club. Every club, she said, was to consider funds the week of March 15 for the foundation and endowment fund of the club. She quoted Miss Lena Madesen Phillips in her talk at the recent breakfast at the Stuyvesant in Kingston as saying too many women hampered her energies by doing too many small things and not putting that energy into one worthwhile activity. She mentioned the better speech department which comes under the education of women of which Mrs. Lawrence Van den Berg is state chairman and quoted that the New Paltz Study Club has begun the self teaching course in better English by devoting a period before the regular meeting to the study. This takes fifteen lessons. Speakers at the luncheon in New York on February 4 at the Hotel McAlpin, were also quoted. One speaker who told how to review a book and the talks on Peace were recommended, the Child Labor amendment also were discussed.

She was followed by Miss Maud Richards, president of the New Paltz Study Club, who brought greetings and an invitation to attend a meeting of the New Paltz Club. She stressed the youth movement and gave instances where training was needed as she met the youth in her work as teacher and the right start meant fewer criminals in the future. She advocated as much schooling as possible and then the vocational schools. Miss Richards completed her talk by telling of her trip to Texas between the holidays and gave so much of interest concerning the Rio Grande river, the dinner in Mexico, the fruit and vegetables and the sunshine that her audience was loath to have her stop.

The president, Mrs. A. L. LeFevre, presided. It was voted to have the meetings in the future come on the last Tuesday of the month, with the meeting in March falling on March 31, at the home of Mrs. E. Bradt on Tillson avenue. The refreshment committee is to be Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Percy Mott, Mrs. Lynn Baker. A card party for April was decided upon with Mrs. James Callahan as chairman. Miss Minna Strohman gave a review of a recent magazine article, "Is Feminism Dead?"

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kline, Miss Luella Osc and Mrs. Ella Burchill. Attending the meeting aside from the guests were Mrs. A. Lorin LeFevre, Mrs. Alice Dumond, Mrs. Charles Osberg, Miss Hilda Osberg, Mrs. Charles Schmidt, Mrs. Hobart Kurtz, Miss Lillian Johnston, Mrs. Emma Bradt, Mrs. John J. Gaffney, Miss Luella Osc, Mrs. Ella Burchill, Mrs. Harriet Ames, Mrs. Troy Cook, Miss Minnie DiLorenzo, Miss Minna Strohman, Mrs. Ernst and Miss Eliza Raymond.

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, Feb. 13—There was no school the past Tuesday due to illness of the teacher, Mrs. Lou Fredd.

Miss Erma Hornbeck returned home Saturday after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Herman Stokes, and family of Accord.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Latimer is improving under the care of Dr. D. O. Williams of Wawarsing.

A number of the local dairymen have been very busy the last week filling their ice houses for the coming season.

Miss Edna Hornbeck is spending an indefinite period with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stokes and children of Accord.

Mrs. J. Hornbeck and son, Homer, entertained relatives from Cornwall at their home on Sunday.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt's prescription—HEM-ROID—to relieve itching, bleeding or protruding piles. This internal medicine acts quickly even in old stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it helps to heal and restore the affected parts and relieves blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting often fail. McBride Drug Stores and all druggists say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must relieve you of your Pile misery or money back—Adv.
